Garment Union Once Hired Dio, Inquiry Is Told

Dave Dubinsky Shunned Fight, Witness Claims

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (P)—A former labor leader testified today that racketeer Johnny Dio was once an organizer for the garment union headed by Dave Dubinsky, a member of the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee.

Lester Washburn, head of the old AFL United Auto Workers from 1943 to 1954, also told a Senate Rackets Committee he tried and failed to get Dubinsky's help in throwing Dio out of the UAW.

Dubinsky is president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union and has been considered in the forefront of efforts to boot criminals and Communists from organized labor.

Reporters intercepted him at an Ethical Practices Committee meeting and asked whether he had known that Dio worked for the ILGWU.

"I will not engage in a debate with Washburn," the labor leader replied. "If the (Senate) committee thinks my testimony is important, I will be glad to testify."

Apart from the Dubinsky angle, Washburn also told the committee Dio was closely associated with James R. Hoffa, the man who now has the inside track to succeed Dave Beck as president of the Teamsters Union.

Dubinsky Opposed To Dio
Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.) wanted to know what advantage Hoffa would get from "joining up with these creepy characters of the underground."

Washburn said he supposed Hoffa would have thought Dio would be a good emissary or could be used in compromising people. "I would say for purposes of gaining power in the labor movement."

He said he thought racketeers probably infiltrated unions to "shake down employers" or to obtain "push living off dues."

Back on the witness stand after a luncheon break, Washburn was asked by Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) whether Dio was opposed to Dio during the years.

"Yes," Washburn said. "He was moving heaven and earth to get us to get him out of our union."

He did not change his morning testimony, however, that he got no concrete help from Dubinsky toward getting rid of Dio.

Mainly the committee is trying to build up slowly a network of evidence which Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) has said will show that Hoffa worked in corrupt fashion with Dio in what may have been a successful effort to get stranglehold power over the port of New York and the Eastern Seaboard.

Meany Praised, Censured
In additional developments during the day:

1. Washburn credited President George Meany of the AFL-CIO with stopping a deal to turn Dio's UAW Local 102 in New York over to the Teamsters Union. He said shift was to have received the final "stamp of approval" of Teamsters President Dave Beck at a noon meeting in Washington.

But he said he understood Meany and Beck conferred at breakfast and the meeting never was held.

2. Abe Goldberg of Philadelphia, who said he was international organizer of the drive to bring New York City taxi drivers into Local 102, testified that in his opinion the organization of cabbies was "trigger" flu attacks, and an outbreak is expected along in December, January or February, if it comes.

A nationwide educational campaign is planned by the Public Health Service urging use of the vaccine, first such effort ever undertaken in connection with influenza.

Senate Clears Bill Providing Defense Fund

Civil Rights Fight Temporarily Halted To Permit Action

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (P)—Acting to avoid payless paydays for American troops, the Senate laid civil rights aside for the time being today and whipped through a $33,759,850,000 money bill for the armed services.

It passed the military bill on a voice vote after voting 89-0 on a roll call to take it up. Since last midnight there had been no legal authority for the armed services to spend any money.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.), the Senate's majority leader, demanded the roll call and flung this challenge: "If anybody wants to have the blood on their hands of not paying our soldiers, they can oppose this motion to take up the defense bill."

After sending the defense bill to the White House, the Senate voted on another voice vote to send its $2,617,333,000 foreign aid authorization to the House for conference. The House has voted a $3,116,833,000 aid authorization.

Farm Bill Approved

Next, on another voice vote, the Senate approved the Senate-House Conference Committee report on the $3,666,544,757 Agriculture Department bill. The Senate vote sent this bill on to the White House.

The defense, aid and farm bills all had priority status and could be taken up by the Senate on a majority vote, without the civil rights legislation being dropped except temporarily. Unanimous consent was not needed to take up these conference committee matters, but it would be needed to lay aside the civil rights bill for other legislation which has not reached the conference stage.

Other Agencies Lack Funds

A White House statement today expressed the hope that the Senate "will act as rapidly as it can" for agencies which are temporarily cut off from funds, including the Atomic Energy Commission, the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Export-Import Bank.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said backers of the civil rights legislation "probably must resist" efforts to consider matters outside the conference appropriation bills.

"Consideration of these matters would push aside the civil rights bill unless we get a unanimous consent agreement," Knowland said.

Detective Agency Calls Cops After Paychecks Stolen
TOLEDO, Ohio, Aug. 1 (P)—With some embarrassment, a private detective agency called the cops yesterday. Someone stole its paychecks.

George De Hart, a detective from the Continental Secret Service Bureau said he set a briefcase containing 40 paychecks beside his car while he unlocked the door.

He drove off without the case and when he returned it was gone.

Pray For Pay Increase

More than 1,000 Minneapolis postal workers bowed their heads yesterday as three denominational church leaders led them in prayer seeking divine guidance of the government in handling their plea for a pay increase. Postal workers, like other governmental employees, are prohibited from striking. A pay increase has been approved by the House but action has been delayed in the Senate and a presidential veto is feared likely. The meeting was on the post office steps before the men reported for work. (Story on Page 2) (AP Photofax)

Last American Division Begins Leaving Japan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (P)—Withdrawal of the last American division from Japan is now under way.

The Defense Department announced today the departure from Japan of the 1st Cavalry Division. This was one of the first major units to arrive of the original army of occupation nearly 12 years ago, and is the last to leave.

The remaining men and equipment of the now understrength division will be absorbed by other units elsewhere. But its proud name, traditions and battle-honored flag are moving to Korea. There, the 1st Cavalry will take over the men and equipment of the 24th Division. The 24th will then be dropped from the Army's order of battle.

In Korea, the transformed 1st Cavalry, which has been an infantry division for many years, will be commanded by Maj. Gen. Ralph Zwicker, who was once castigated by the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) as a man unfit to wear a general's uniform.

The Pentagon said the departure of the 1st Cavalry from Japan carries out the assurance made by President Eisenhower to Japanese Prime Minister Kishi in June that all U. S. ground forces would be withdrawn within the year.

The departure of the 1st Cavalry will leave in Japan several Air Force wings, the 3rd Marine Air Wing and a handful of Army troops who will act as housekeepers and caretakers. The total number of American servicemen remaining in Japan will be about 17,000.

Hungary Reds Arrest Priests

BUDAPEST, Aug. 1 (P)—A group of Roman Catholic priests was accused by Hungary's Communist government today of aiding the rebels in last fall's tragic revolt. The government said all are under arrest and will be brought to trial soon.

The Interior Ministry issued a statement detailing the charges against this "major group of counterrevolutionary priests," but did not name them all or say exactly how many are in the group. Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, who is still in asylum in the U. S. legation in Budapest after being released from a life prison term by the rebels, was accused in one instance.

This involved his secretary, the Rev. Albert Egon Tursanyi, who has been reported under arrest previously. The ministry charged Cardinal Mindszenty instructed the priests to loot the government's religious affairs office during last fall's anti-Russian revolt. Then, said the ministry, they shipped secret documents from the office to the cardinal. Father Tursanyi, the statement charged, "took part in the looting at the head of an armed group."

Dulles May Outline Revised "Open Sky" Plan To U.N. Today

LONDON, Aug. 1 (P)—American officials said tonight Secretary of State Dulles is considering a personal presentation to the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee of the West's plan for a system to prevent sneak attacks.

Dulles' idea would be to throw the weight of his authority behind a revised version of President Eisenhower's two-year-old proposal for opening the skies above America and the Soviet Union for international inspection.

Dulles' decision on whether to appear before tomorrow's scheduled session of the five-power subcommittee will be made sometime before the meeting, American informants said. If Dulles does not unveil the Western plan, U. S. delegate Harold E. Stassen will do it.

Three days of diplomatic activity by U. S., British, French and Canadian members of the U. N. group have produced several major offers on open sky inspection last spring which has not been acceptable.

The talks began when Dulles flew in Monday under the President's orders to appraise prospects of a limited disarmament treaty with Russia.

Today they brought together the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, and France, and the Canadian delegate.

The exchanges produced some agreements but several substantial issues on nuclear and conventional arms have had to be referred to home capitals for decisions.

One problem relates to the circumstances under which the West should use nuclear weapons. Russia has called for a complete renunciation of their use. The West has insisted on reserving the right to use A-bombs and H-bombs in self-defense.

Another issue has to do with the connection between projected cutbacks in conventional arms and armies.

Woman Admits Stealing $96,000 To Bet On Horses
CLEVELAND, Aug. 1 (P)—each one sign a check for $300, saying the money was needed by another member for a business trip. They happened to compare notes and became suspicious. After a private investigation one signed a warrant charging her with a specific crime on a specific date. She was arrested and calmly told her story to detectives.

No one had suspected her. Each year the senior member of the firm went over her books, but never checked the purported bank balance with the bank.

She said the process was simple. Every day at 11 a.m. she went down to the lobby of the building and handed an envelope containing her money—from $200 to as high as $1,000—and race selections to a bookmaker who gave the name of Joe Martin. Two detectives were assigned the task of finding him.

Senate Deals Eisenhower Major Defeat

Rights Provision, Backed By South, Approved 51 To 42

WASHINGTON, Friday, Aug. 2 (P)—The Senate early today nailed a jury trial amendment into the civil rights bill, thereby dealing a major defeat to President Eisenhower and forces backing the administration measure.

The vote was 51-42. The amendment was approved at 12:14 a.m. after tense debate before jammed galleries.

Provides for jury trials in criminal contempt cases arising from injunctions the attorney general would be empowered to obtain to enforce voting rights. It also would apply in labor cases and many others.

Only yesterday President Eisenhower emphasized anew his opposition to a jury trial amendment. And Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate GOP leader, said it would be "a fatal blow" to the bill.

The amendment was offered by Senators O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), Keafauver (D-Tenn.) and Church (D-Idaho). Southerners backed it solidly and enough Republicans and Northern Democrats joined them to put it across.

A big factor in its success was the adept, buttonholing generalship of Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader and possible contender for the next presidential nomination of his party. Striving to keep Northern and Southern Democrats from flying apart, he fought for what he considered moderating changes in the civil rights bill.

Nixon Deplores Action
Vice President Nixon had this comment on the Senate action:

"This was one of the saddest days in the history of the Senate because this was a vote against the right to vote."

Southerners were jubilant. Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), leader of the Dixie forces, had warned in advance that they would use "every means" at their command to try to defeat the measure if the jury trial amendment should be rejected.

The vote, taken in the midst of the fourth week of Senate debate on the bill, generally was regarded as making a Southern filibuster against final passage unlikely.

Russell has turned aside questions on that point. But he has said numerous amendments will be offered to other parts of the bill.

Last week the Southerners scored another major victory when the Senate voted 52-38 to strip the bill of all enforcement authority except to safeguard voting rights.

As passed by the House, the bill provided for the use of injunctions to enforce civil rights in general, including racial integration in public schools and other public places.

Under the jury trial amendment adopted tonight defendants in criminal contempt proceedings to punish a person for willful disobedience of an injunction or other court order would be entitled to trial by jury.

But in civil contempt cases, where a judge's purpose is only to secure compliance with his order and not to punish, there would be no jury trial.

Applies To Labor Disputes
The amendment applies not only to contempt cases arising under the civil rights bill but to all federal laws enforceable by injunctive procedures, including labor disputes.

And another provision, added to the amendment just last night, would permit Negroes or others to serve as federal court jurors regardless of whether or not they were qualified under state laws.

Sen. Johnson said this provision conferred "an important new civil right" on American citizens, and indications were that it helped to pick up crucial votes for the amendment.

The effect of the earlier broadening of the amendment to cover labor disputes and all other kinds of contempt proceedings was uncertain.

The AFL-CIO Executive Committee announced its opposition to a jury trial amendment, but Johnson read a letter early today from the president of 12 railroad brotherhoods advocating a jury trial amendment.

In the battle over the bill that still lies ahead, additional amendments may be offered to the voting rights section.

And a number of changes already have been proposed to another section that would create a bipartisan presidential commission, armed with subpoena powers, to make a general study of voting rights and other civil rights.

House Group Backs GI Trials Measure

Bill Is Opposed By Administration

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee voted 31-4 today for a GI trials bill strongly opposed by the Eisenhower administration.

The measure by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) and Rep. Kilday (D-Tex.) would give the secretary of the service involved the power to decide for the United States whether an offense by a U.S. serviceman overseas was committed in performance of duty.

If a foreign government deemed an on-duty case particularly important to it, the U.S. Secretary would be the one to decide whether this country would waive its trial right as provided for in the status of forces agreements.

The committee vote was taken against the background of the administration's decision to turn GI William S. Girard over to the Japanese for trial in the fatal shooting of a Japanese woman.

Kilday predicted early House passage for such legislation in the wake of criticism over handling of the Girard case.

Voting no were four Republicans including Rep. Arends (Ill.), the House Republican whip.

Whether the bill would just set up U.S. procedures within the status-of-forces agreements or would impair those agreements, as some critics contend, was a matter of argument.

Rep. Bray (R-Ind.) said: "At least it's going to be a warning. Don't sell Americans down the river."

Two Boys Die, Eight Injured In Auto Crash

HANOVER, Pa., Aug. 1 (AP)—An automobile crashed into a utility pole last night on a curve, killing two teen age boys and injuring eight other boys and girls.

State police said that seven of the 10 were in the back seat, and that the weight apparently caused the driver to lose control.

The victims were Albert Eugene Schaefer, 16, Westminster, R.D. 4, Md., driver of the car, and William Robert White, 15, Greenmount, R.D. 1, Md.

The Maryland Department of Motor Vehicles said that Schaefer got his operator's license less than a month ago, on July 9.

State Police said the car failed to make a curve on the Hanover-Baltimore Highway about five miles south of Hanover, hit a utility pole, rolled over three times in a distance of 120 feet and smashed into a second pole.

Four of those injured were admitted to the Hanover Hospital where their condition was reported satisfactory. They are Rita Lutter, 15, of nearby McSherrytown, lacerations, possible fractured right shoulder; Phyllis Dell, 16, Hanover, fractured right arm; Everett C. Young, 19, Reisterstown, Md., lacerations and chest injuries and Michael Whitcomb, Oving's Mills, Md., fractured right leg.

Treated for minor injuries and then discharged were Bobby Simon, 18, near Reisterstown; Patricia Zinn, 14, Hanover; Janet Bortner, 18, Hanover and Barbara Smith, 18, Hanover.

Police said the two dead boys and the Zinn girl occupied the front seat of the 1949 sedan.

The teenagers had been to a carnival at Hampstead, Md., and were en route to Hanover at the time of the accident, about 10:30 p.m.

Schaefer was pinned beneath the wrecked car. He was removed by firemen and rushed to the hospital where he died shortly afterwards. White died about 2:15 a.m. Their skulls were fractured.

1,000 Mail Workers Join In Prayer For Pay Boost

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 1 (AP)—Before a makeshift altar in a debris-littered square, more than 1,000 Minneapolis postal workers prayed today for divine help in their campaign for wage increases.

As the employees stood with heads bowed in front of the post office, a minister asked that the government be strengthened "with vision and insight so it may lift the level of living for these public servants who serve so faithfully."

Postal workers, prohibited from striking, organized an early morning "pause for prayer" to ask divine guidance for the government.

A bill providing a postal pay raise has been approved by the House of Representatives but has been delayed in the Senate.

The Minneapolis workers, assembled in Pioneer Square near the city's skid row district, were led in prayer by Dr. John B. Oman of Wesley Methodist church and Rabbi Lewis N. Ginsburg, secretary of the Rabbinical Council of Minneapolis.

Officials of the National Assn. of Letter Carriers and the National Federation of Post Office Clerks said the meeting was not a publicity stunt but a sincere effort.

President William C. Daugherty of the National Assn. of Letter Carriers suggested the union's 110,000 members seek divine assistance in getting the pending postal pay increase bill through Congress.

He proposed nationwide prayers by letter carriers in a statement sent out with the association's latest weekly legislative bulletin.

W.Va. Governor To Complete His Official Family

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 1 (AP)—Gov. Cecil Underwood plans to complete his official family by Monday so that the State Senate can act on all his appointments at a special legislative session.

Underwood told his weekly news conference today that he wants to be sure he makes valid appointments to the two major posts still open in his administration—the directors of the departments of public assistance and veterans affairs.

The DPA post now is vacant. Underwood accepted the resignation of Director Robert F. Roth, a Democratic holdover, as of yesterday. Veterans Affairs Director C. S. Collier Jr., also a holdover from the Marland administration, still is serving although his term expired June 30.

The governor said he wants to make both appointments before the Legislature convenes Monday so he will be certain to keep his "appointive prerogative." He explained he does not know what would happen if he sent no names for the posts to the Senate. But, Underwood added later, there has been some doubt and he does not want to take any chances.

The DPA director runs the state's second largest department, with 475 employees throughout West Virginia. Only the Road Commission has more employees. Underwood told newsmen he has "some good prospects" for the DPA job.

Ike Taken Up On His Offer To Sell Assets For Million

RALEIGH, N.C., Aug. 1 (AP)—Raleigh businessman Kidd Brewer today took President Eisenhower up on his offer to sell his assets for a million dollars.

Brewer, 49, former Duke University athlete who ran unsuccessfully for lieutenant governor last year, sent this telegram to the President:

"I represent a group interested in making a definite offer of a million dollars for your personal holdings, including assets held in trust referred to at your press conference yesterday. Am prepared to make a good faith deposit at once. Request conference at your earliest convenience."

Brewer, who attracted headlines with his unorthodox methods of campaigning in the race for lieutenant governor, insisted that "It's a serious offer" and "is not a joking matter." He said he was "not at liberty to divulge" the names of his backers at the present.

At his news conference yesterday, President Eisenhower was asked about news articles which estimated that the President's holdings are worth a million dollars. The President answered, "That man who knows so much about my business will offer me a million dollars to sell out, he is going to make a sale in a hurry."

Bi-State River Talks Planned

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 1 (AP)—VALC Chairman Mosby G. Perrow Jr. today announced a seven-man committee to meet next Monday with a Maryland group at Williamsburg on water problems of the two states.

Perrow also announced that the entire Virginia Advisory Legislative Council will meet Tuesday here with Atty. Gen. Almond to discuss the status of the Maryland-Virginia compact of 1785 which Maryland recently passed a law to nullify.

That compact gave Virginians equal fishing rights with Marylanders in the Maryland-owned Potomac River.

Almond said today he had "reached a conclusion as to how to proceed to protect Virginia's rights" under the ancient pact, but that he could not discuss it publicly at this time. Presumably he does not wish to tip his hand in case the matter has to be fought out in the courts.

Next Monday's get-together is for the purpose of setting up an agenda for later discussion by the full VALC and the Maryland Legislative Council with governors of both states in attendance.

Problems to be discussed include Potomac oyster and crabbing fisheries, the piers in the Potomac River just off the Virginia shore on which gambling and the sale of whisky by the drink is permitted, and Chesapeake Bay matters.

Hasn't Resigned Yet, Wilson Says

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson said today he hasn't resigned but has talked with President Eisenhower at various times about a successor.

Wilson's statements at a news conference were in response to questions about a new rash of rumors that he had submitted his resignation.

In response to a question, he said that no date has been decided upon for his resignation.

Asked whether he had recommended to President Eisenhower a successor in the Cabinet post, Wilson said: "Well, of course, the matter has been discussed from time to time but I have no particular person to recommend."

Eisenhower Greet Girls Nation Group

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower today greeted two groups of young people and got a serenade from one of them. He spoke briefly to 98 delegates to the Girls Nation, sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary, in the White House rose garden.

"You have been here since Sunday, and so probably you know a lot more about Washington than I do—in some of its aspects, at least," he told them.

Then the President, in observance of Colorado Day, listened to a rendition of "Colorado Skies" by a chorus of 18 young men who have been appearing at the Central City, Colo. summer opera festival.

UNICF To Offer Real Christmas Card

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—The U.N. Children's Fund—UNICEF—is going to put an honest-to-goodness Christmas card on the market this year and see what happens.

In previous years the cards never mentioned Christmas. UNICEF thought it shouldn't because the U.N. takes in peoples of many religions and some with none at all.

But from Christian countries it got many demands for cards that would wish the recipients a Merry Christmas rather than just "Season's Greetings." Central and South American delegates in committee and on the executive board backed up these demands. The board decided to issue one Christmas card as an experiment this year.

So when the fund puts 10 kinds of greeting cards on sale tomorrow, one will say "Joyous Christmas" — in English, French and Spanish. The others all will say "Season's Greetings" in those languages plus Chinese and Russian.

The Christmas card will carry a picture of a mother and child by Gladys Rockmore Davis, New York portrait painter. The others will carry five pictures about "music for children" by Ludwig Bemelmans, Austrian, born American; two, of Oriental children

Baltimore's Mayor Stirs New Civic Center Battle

BALTIMORE, Aug. 1 (AP)—Baltimore's year-long battle of the Civic Center—which has generated more heat than action—generated still more heat today.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro touched off the latest skirmish when he announced a decision had been made to build the proposed six million dollar center at Druid Hill Park.

Park board members, representatives of the downtown area and others spoke out strongly in opposition.

Last November voters approved a six million dollar loan to build the center, which is to include a sports arena and exhibition hall.

Squabbles over a site began even before that.

The mayor took the bull by the horns last night and announced it would be Druid Hill Park. Charles P. McCormick, chairman of the Civic Center Commission said his group agreed.

There were a rash of protests today—including one that the move might even be illegal without Park Board approval.

Atty. Hyman Pressman, a frequent critic of the city administration threatened suit, contending that without park board consent the plan violates a section of the city charter which gives the board "charge and control" of the parks.

Gerald Wise, a member of the Park Board, said he believed an injunction could be sought on the ground that voters approved the loan with the understanding the center was to go either at Carls Park or downtown.

The Park Board's vice president, S. L. Hammerman, said "the appropriation of 30 of the most beautiful acres in Druid Hill Park . . . will go down in municipal history as the rape of Druid Hill Park."

U.S. Aid Sought For 10 Counties Hit By Drought

ANNAPOLIS, Aug. 1 (AP)—The federal government was asked today to declare 10 Maryland counties drought disaster areas.

The plea, called "urgent," was made direct to President Eisenhower by Gov. McKeldin through his assistant, Albert W. Quinn. McKeldin is vacationing in Europe and talked with Quinn by telephone.

The letter requested aid for Kent, Queen Annes, Talbot, Caroline, Dorchester, Somerset, Wilcomico and Worcester, all on the Eastern Shore, and Calvert and Charles counties, in southern Maryland.

If the counties were declared a disaster area, farmers could borrow money from the government at low interest rates.

The current dry spell is regarded as the worst since the early '30s. It has been especially bad on the Eastern Shore and lower half of the Western Shore, where agriculture is a principal industry.

Quinn's letter said in part: "Gov. McKeldin respectfully asks, sir, that this urgent matter have your prompt attention so that these particularly distressed agricultural counties may have early assurance of the federal assistance authorized under the credit and special program of the U.S. Department of Agriculture."

The state Board of Public Works has refused to experiment with cloud-seeding to try to bring relief. It said there appeared to be a lack of "public confidence" in the proposal and no farmers or farm groups had requested it or offered to underwrite the experiment.

Va. Integration Put Off Pending Court Decision

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 1 (AP)—Gov. Thomas B. Stanley said today "as I see the picture now, I am very hopeful that schools will open on a segregated basis in September as they have in the past."

As for the future of the State Pupil Placement Act, the governor told a press conference "we will just have to wait and see what the court's decision will be."

The act has been thrown out by federal district and appeals courts but will be appealed by the State to the U.S. Supreme Court, which is now in recess. The high court reconvenes in October.

The governor was asked if he would attempt to enforce the act in Charlottesville where Federal Judge John Paul last week said Negro parents and pupils would not have to fill out assignment forms provided under the act which set up the three-member central state agency.

"I understand the (pupil placement) board will continue its work as in the past, and until there is some conflict I plan no action by this office," the governor replied.

Stanley recalled that Judge Paul had said he would not require desegregation during the first semester of the coming year, since the validity of the act cannot be passed on by the Supreme Court until after the opening of schools.

The governor declined to speculate on which is the most critical of five districts in which there are segregation cases pending. Desegregation orders are being held in abeyance in Norfolk, Newport News, Charlottesville and Arlington County pending the outcome of the Supreme Court's decision.

In Prince Edward County, school officials are under order to desegregate but no time limit has been set.

Stanley was asked for comment on a statement by W. Lester Banks, executive secretary of the Virginia state conference of NAACP branches, yesterday that he knew of no general discrimination against Negroes' voting rights in Virginia.

"I haven't felt there has been," the governor said. "There may have been a few isolated cases."

He said not a single complaint had come to him from a Negro in this regard during his term of office.

"I think the Negroes have been generally satisfied with the government in Virginia. I hope they still are satisfied," he said.

"If there is any unrest it has been agitated by the advocates of integration."

Suspension Defied By Tax Assessor

ROCKVILLE, Md., Aug. 1 (AP)—A suspended Montgomery County tax assessor, still refusing to recognize his suspension, today repeated his charges of "large errors" and "excessive cuts" on the county tax books.

These allegations brought about Henry H. Carter's suspension last Thursday by Wilton T. Allen, State supervisor of assessments, but Carter said today he is not sure Allen has authority to suspend him.

Carter has continued to report for work although he has not received any assignments from his superiors.

Sixty per cent of the salaries of Maryland assessors is paid by the State Tax Commission. The other 40 per cent is paid by the counties in which they work.

For this reason, Carter said, it is not clear who has the authority to suspend assessors.

Carter, an assessor for two years, was suspended after charging in a letter to County Manager Melvin L. Reese that "favoritism" was being shown in the levying and cutting of assessments in Montgomery County.

Prison Employees Voice Complaints

HAGERSTOWN, Aug. 1 (AP)—Guards, clerks and other employees at the State Reformatory for Males met today behind closed doors with representatives of the State Classified Employees Board.

An authoritative person at the meeting said the employees voiced complaints as to their treatment and regulations.

He said the guards objected to regulations such as having to salute the superintendent, Clement J. Ferling, and having to remain silent even though prisoners gave them a tongue-lashing.

Ninety-one prison employees attended the three-hour meeting.

Asked about the meeting, Ferling said he had received no formal complaints or protests and, lacking such formal notice, would not comment. He was aware a meeting was held.

Woman Sets Precedent

BALTIMORE, Aug. 1 (AP)—Lucy Ann Garvey, an attractive 35-year-old lawyer, today was sworn in as the first woman assistant state attorney in the history of Baltimore and Maryland.

She was appointed by State Attorney J. Harold Grady, who introduced her to the judges today in a courtroom decorated with flowers and filled with friends.

Miss Garvey has been assigned by Grady to the Family Court section of his office.

Mormons, Once Tiny Persecuted Band, Now One Of Most Vigorous Churches

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Out under the stars on a broad hillside, an extraordinary story was retold Thursday night, depicting the origins of a church which has become one of America's strongest, most industrious and diversified religious institutions.

It is the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. Its activities—spiritual and physical—have attained a scope in proportion to membership unmatched by any denomination in the nation.

"Never has the church been in a more healthy and flourishing condition than it is today," said Harold B. Lee of Salt Lake City, one of the church's ruling Council of 12.

In religious dedication, the church draws a vast portion of its entire manpower both into missionary and priestly duties. In material vigor, it has developed a multimillion-dollar network of industries and services.

Members are known generally as Mormons, named after an ancient prophet. Once a tiny, persecuted band, they now number nearly 1½ million, twice as many as 25 years ago—about half the increase through conversions.

"We are growing tremendously," Lee said.

On a hill four miles south of Palmyra, N.Y., a spectacular pageant is being presented through Saturday night—portraying the unusual chronology that led to the founding of the church.

Although the church—like other Christian bodies—is based on the Old and New Testaments, it also embraces other scriptures considered inspired by God. These give a unique version of the past on this continent.

As told in the Book of Mormon and as sketched in the outdoor pageant by a cast of 250, plus an array of musicians and technicians, the story goes like this:

About 600 years before Christ, a remnant of Judaism sailed to America from Palestine. They split into two nations, the Nephites building a great, God-fearing civilization, the Lamanites corrupt and quarrelsome. After Christ's resurrection, he appeared in America and taught for a time. Subsequently, however, the Nephites fell into ungodly ways and in the fourth century A.D. were destroyed by the Lamanites, who were ancestors of the American Indians.

A Nephite survivor, Moroni, son of the prophet Mormon, took the record kept by his father on golden plates and buried it in the hill in present upstate New York where the account, with biblical episodes, is dramatized annually.

This is the 130th anniversary of the year, 1827, in which the church holds that the plates were retrieved by its founder, Joseph Smith, who was led to the hillside spot by a message from God.

At that time, the church asserts,

God renewed contact with man, after about 1,000 years during which all other churches—Catholic and Protestant—floundered without divine leadership.

Smith is deemed the latter-day prophet, chosen by God to re-establish Christ's church as it existed in the days of the Apostles. His translation of the traditional plate, plus revelations to him, became the Book of Mormon.

Like Roman Catholics, Mormons consider theirs the only true church, believe in continuing divine relation through their leaders, accord them doctrinal authority, and maintain an apostolic succession.

The succession, however, begins with Smith, rather than in ancient times, as traced by Catholics.

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(INS)—A brave little group known as the New York Convention and Visitors Bureau, Inc., has been trying to get people to visit our town this summer. "You'll love New York," it insists on the bureau stationery. "New York is a summer festival," it says elsewhere.

The little group perseveres in face of what seems a deeply rooted native trait: Millions of Americans don't love New York. Sad, but true, as any person who travels about the country, taking soundings, will tell you. New York frightens lots of people. Some who come here find it takes great will power simply to leave their hotel rooms.

"It's a fine place to visit but I'd sure hate to live there," is a cliché which has been affixed to New York for as long as I can remember—and that's getting to be a depressing length of time. The Convention and Visitors Bureau people have tried various ways and means of overcoming the natural antipathy toward our town. Some seem picaresque.

We, who berth the Queens Mary and Elizabeth, the stunning

United States, and all the other lovely ships, boast not of them but of the replica of the tiny Mayflower. We, who have the Yankees, urge the outlander to come to us to witness a Picasso exhibit.

We never seem to say just this: "You're a chump if you don't give New York a look-see. It's the greatest town in history. Fly over it on a clear night and you'll thrill to the memory of that incredible jewel display as long as you live."

The most difficult thing the visitor to New York must learn is how to walk. If you, the visitor, have ever wondered how the sightseeing bus barker spots you from 50 paces, he nails you simply because everybody else around you is walking faster.

It is not that New Yorkers are embarked on more momentous errands, it's just that they feel they must not tarry. They hurry along at a breath-taking clip because—well—because everybody else is.

You, the visitor may also have been spotted because of your white shoes. There are no statistics handy at the moment, but I suppose fewer white shoes are sold in New York City each year than in say, Osawatimie, Kans.

Or your hard straw hat. There was a time when Jim Farley was about the only fellow in town who preserved the hard-straw tradition. Now Jim can happily report that hard straw sales are up 400 per cent over last year. Still, they're a rarity around New York, as compared to the rest of the land.

The newest wrinkle of the visitors bureau is to boast that if you come to warm-hearted New York you can get yourself frozen numb. This was the first city in the world to have air conditioning. Happened just 55 years ago this summer, when a Cornell engineering graduate, Willis H. Carrier, turned on the first clanking model.

Now we're cooled by the equivalent of 20,000 freight carloads of ice per day—which measures out to 1,600,000 horsepower of air conditioning equipment. New York hotels—best in the world—spent $53,000,000 during the past two years on improvements, mostly in the air-conditioning systems. Among the 43 largest hotels, 20,112 of the 33,492 guest rooms are air-conditioned. Everything, everywhere, is chilled. We could cool all of inhabited Oregon.

The night I arrived in New York, 20 years ago, from slow-gaited Washington, sports editor Ed Frayne of the American assigned me to cover a fight at Madison Square Garden. Next to me was a fellow I've never seen since. He said, "Boy, I work for a weekly on Staten Island, circulation 2,000, and everytime I take the ferry over to Manhattan and look up at that line of skyscrapers I shake my fist at it and say, 'I licked that!'"

Would that our brave little group could kindle a fire in those who either fear to tread our pastures or would just as soon we sank into the bay.

Leash On Son OK

WALLASEY, England, Aug. 1.—A magistrate has ruled in effect that a mother may continue taking her 12-year-old son to school on a dog leash if necessary.

She took him to court with the explanation that she had resorted to the leash after he turned up at school only 43 times last semester. The boy told the judge, "I am too scared to go to school."

Verdict: Three years probation for the boy.

B&O Revises Fiscal Policy

BALTIMORE, Aug. 1.—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad announced today that it will no longer give out fixed-income debentures in exchange for income bonds.

The company said it will end its policy of exchanging convertible 4½ per cent debentures for its outstanding 4½ per cent income bonds on Aug. 12.

The exchange offer was made March 27, 1956 when company officials said improvement in the railroad's affairs justified restoration of the fixed interest status which holders of the income bonds had relinquished under adjustment plans of 1938 and 1944.

Interest on the debentures is fixed and payable semi-annually irrespective of earnings. Interest on the income bonds is payable annually and only to the extent earned.

The exchange offer has been accepted by the holders of $37,176,000 of the income bonds, leaving $23,534,000 outstanding.

In anticipation of the deadline date of Aug. 12, recent exchanges of old bonds for new debentures have been heavy, totaling more than $900,000 during the past week.

Harold E. Simpson, B and O president, said the railroad "feels under obligation to holders of the income bonds to point out that the differential favoring the income bonds is without justification in fact."

Simpson said the company "will not, except for sinking fund purposes, redeem any of the income bonds unless the market situation should have so changed that the income bonds could be refunded at a lower interest cost to the company."

Jersey Puts On New Airs For Fall Styles

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

American women love to wear jersey—have ever since the days when it used to bag and sag and hadn't acquired all its educated tricks of today.

There's a casual ease and comfort to a jersey dress. It never looks too dressed up, it has a comfortable fit and feel—and—most important in its popularity—it doesn't get rumpled or crushed. It's the traveler's delight and the college girl's standby.

There's news in orlon-and-wool jersey, that remarkable fabric that sheds soil and wrinkles, can be dunked in a washbowl and worn with little or no ironing. It takes permanent pleats beautifully, dries overnight and has many other virtues, such as clear, durable colors, easy drapability and a soft touch.

This fall you'll be seeing a lot of the new printed jerseys, which take to high styling with practiced ease. Among the most effective are a group of paisley prints on orlon-and-wool jersey, used in soft, flattering afternoon dresses that look exactly right for fall. The new fabric is being used by top designers in various silhouettes—but all softly draped or pleated, with an air of understated elegance.

There also are many types of jacquard jerseys in the fall fashion lineup, in various textures and motifs suitable for everything from sports to evening wear. These are mostly in small, all-over patterns and often in high colors.

Youth Center Is Planned At North Branch

Adults of the North Branch, Oldtown Road and Mexico Farms area will meet today at 8 p. m. in the District 16 Fire Hall to see what they can do about organizing a youth center.

Mrs. George Abbott, of North Branch, who has been spearheading the movement along with Rev. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman, said there are no facilities for recreation for the teen-agers of that section.

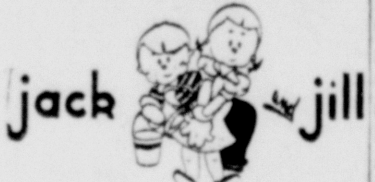

She pointed out the plan for a youth center with dances on the first and third Fridays has the backing of the Ladies Auxiliary of the District 16 Volunteer Fire Company.

A group from North Branch met Wednesday with Eugene Mason, city recreation director, and Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant recreation director.

Advice on a program for youths at this semi-monthly gathering was given by the two city officials, Mrs. Abbott said.

She emphasized that there are plenty of youngsters, but not enough adults to assist in the youth center activities. She urged interested persons to attend.

How can a mature woman tell how well she'll do if she tackles a business career again? Ask yourself these questions.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Back In Business

It's a time of serious self-evaluation—when the woman who has stayed at home with her family for years faces the prospect of entering the business world again. Does she have what it takes to make a success of her new career?

If you're like most women at this point in their lives, you tend to under-estimate yourself. You may not realize how important to your future is the kind of person you've become during those stay-at-home years. But ask yourself these questions — they may prove you have more to offer than you think.

Ask Yourself

Have you worked on group projects? Fund raising for a good cause counts, and so does campaigning for civic improvement, or helping to put over community, school, club or church activities and entertainments.

Has your work on projects been consistent? Did you stay with it to the end, or take part year after year when the time came?

Did you make new friends along the way while you kept your old friends? Do you keep up with the news—world as well as local—and with developments in the arts and sciences? Have you taken up a new hobby recently? Are you interested in new clothes and beauty methods?

The Reason Why

Why should "yes" answers to these questions justify a certain confidence in job hunting? First of all, employers look for those who get along well with others. Many workers are fired because they can't do just this.

You've learned much when you've learned how to adjust to group effort by being cooperative, by making friends and keeping them.

Then employers are most interested in those who know how to take responsibility and are persistent, which you proved by shouldering duties repeatedly whether or not for reward. Alertness is equally important to employers—if you are open-minded, you are on the way to learning the skills that are valuable to them. And your interest in improvement of yourself points toward your being the attractive person who will appeal to them enough to hire.

Tomorrow: Nail-Biting.

Cresaptown Youth Gets $9,400 In Accident Claim

A Cresaptown youth, hurt in a fall down the elevator shaft of a downtown store a few hours after he reported for his first day of work there, has received a $9,400 award from the State Industrial Accident Commission for permanent and total disabilities.

The claimant is John Hersh, 20, who received multiple injuries in the fall down the shaft at Peskin's Inc., on Baltimore Street.

While he received the maximum award for the wage at which he was hired, his attorneys are appealing the amount, because it did not take into consideration his future earning ability.

Peter J. Carpentieri and Simon F. Reilly, his counsel, said they will file an appeal in Allegany County Circuit Court.

At the hearings in Hersh's case, testimony was introduced in his behalf to show he had an aptness with floral arranging and was studying that trade.

They claimed that Hersh in the future would be making at least $50 a week, at this work, which would qualify him for a higher award.

Hersh was hurt on February 28, 1956, just an hour or two after he had started work.

As a result of his injuries, Hersh was ruled to have the following permanent and total disabilities:

Left arm, 15 per cent; left leg, 40 per cent; left eye, 35 per cent loss of vision, and under other ailments, 40 per cent total disability.

He received temporary total disability payments weekly from the day he was injured until February 24 of this year.

Officials report that for good reasons of their own non-Communist bees by millions cross daily into Red-ruled East Germany for their nectar and return to their hives hereabouts.

Why? West German fields are saturated with unpalatable chemical fertilizer and uncultivated flowering acres across the way are not.

Safety In Numbers

These men, who have served on the construction safety committee for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company construction job at North Branch the past 13 months, are shown as they gathered at Cas Taylor's Restaurant for a dinner and meeting. Construction work at PPG will wind up in a couple of more months and these men hope that the precedent they established on this job with their safety committee will be followed in all future projects. In the picture, front row, left to right, are Cecil

C. Clark, Fred A. Sullivan, Ralph E. Porter, John J. Frizzel, representing Consolidated Engineering; Virgil K. Dyer and Michael A. Clark, Second row, same order, are John A. Whisenant, Everett L. Flanigan, Clifford Northcraft, W. J. Robertson, representing Eichleay Brothers of Pittsburgh; Ralph N. Abel, representing Sargent Electric Company; Dorsey T. Ashby, John F. Dolan, representing Hinkle Brothers, and J. E. "Doc" Wright.

PPG Construction Safety Precedent Is Cited Here

Since the construction safety committee for the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant construction project at North Branch was organized some 13 months ago not a single death on the job has been attributed to equipment failure.

That point was emphasized here Wednesday night as ten members of the committee and representatives of four of the companies involved in the construction work met for a dinner at Cas Taylor's Restaurant to discuss their achievements and express a hope that a similar committee can function on future big construction jobs.

This committee was activated as a permanent organization after the fatal flash fire of June 1956 in which three workers were fatally injured.

Each of the building trades elected members to this construction safety committee and those elected had to be approved by Carl J. Cochran, construction superintendent for Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Ralph E. Porter, now the chairman of this committee, and Clifford Northcraft served as permanent safety supervisors for the committee. As each member observed some dangerous practice which should be changed, he made a suggestion and many of them were adopted.

Since the committee was organized two of the six deaths which occurred during construction have happened but none has been blamed on equipment failure. Aside from the three deaths as a result of the flash fire, two died because of falls and another died when a truck backed against him as he was standing by a wall.

The committee expressed hope that the precedent established by this group can be continued on other big construction jobs in the area. Represented on the committee were pipefitters and plumbers, electricians, carpenters, laborers, millwrights, ironworkers and painters.

City Reservoir Repairs Begin

City Water Department workers yesterday began repairing the Ridgedale Reservoir, William J. Edwards, water commissioner, reports.

Edwards observed that repairs to this holding pond are not as serious as those in the Fort Hill Reservoir.

The West Side reservoir is having slabs of concrete renewed, but Edwards said the work at Fort Hill Reservoir is more extensive.

Bids will be accepted by the Mayor and Council Monday, August 12, at 10 a. m. for this work.

Boys Involved In Cutting Incident Put On Probation

Two teen-age youths were given suspended sentences to the Maryland Boys Village at a hearing yesterday before Juvenile Magistrate Fred H. Anderson as the result of a cutting episode Monday night.

The boys were placed on strict probation, one for a year and the other for six months, ordered to obey their parents, attend church and report regularly to the probation officer. The one youth was placed on probation for a year in view of his past record in Juvenile Court, Anderson explained.

The cutting episode took place following an argument that started at a party, court officials said. One of the boys obtained a butcher knife and when he raised it the other youth swung at him. The boy who was cut was treated at a hospital after the father of one of the two separated them.

City Officials Check Truck Detour

City officials yesterday checked the route through the city which truckers must traverse while the new Baltimore Street bridge over Wills Creek is under construction.

Making the tour was Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn, Lt. Raymond R. Johnson of Police Department's Traffic Bureau, and Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer.

Signs designating the route for heavy vehicles will be put up today and kept covered until the Western Maryland Railway Company completes work on the temporary crossing, Chief Flynn said. Once that work is completed, and blacktop laid, the temporary span will be placed in use.

Signs restricting parking on North Centre and North Mechanic streets from 4-6 p. m. will also be placed.

The temporary bridge will be closed to heavy trucks and buses, the chief said, and southbound traffic on U. S. Route 220 will be directed to the following route:

In Bedford Road to Henderson Avenue, west to Valley Street, across Valley Street to Cumberland Street, to Allegany Street, and out Fayette Street to the Dingle Circle.

Northbound traffic on 220 will be directed on the above route in reverse, Chief Flynn said.

Truckers from the South End who traverse Park Street will be directed to use Henderson Avenue to the West Side, and the portion of the avenue from Baltimore Street to Glenn Street will be two-way while the new bridge is being constructed, the chief explained.

Truckers using South Centre Street from South Cumberland will be warned by signs at the Baltimore Street intersection that no left turn will be permitted for West Side traffic. The trucks can use either the Market Street or Valley Street bridges, Flynn said.

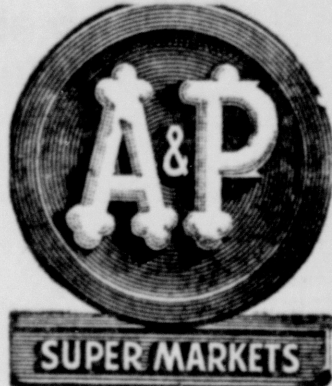

Police Commissioner William V. Keegan said the Maryland State Roads Commission will be furnished with the temporary Route 220 detour since that organization puts out a bulletin for trucking firms that informs them of detours within its system.

This will help alleviate confusion, Keegan said.

LaVale Zoning Board Meets

The newly elected LaVale Zoning Board held its first meeting Tuesday night at the home of its chairman, John J. Rowan, Woodlawn.

Immediate problems for zoning the sprawling District 29 were discussed. All of the district is included under the zoning legislation approved by the voters in a referendum June 17.

Organization of the board was held up for over three weeks while waiting for a decision from the State Law Department on the breaking of the tie for chairmanship that existed between Rowan and C. A. Lancaster, who were the top vote getters in the race for the board.

The initial session was also postponed due to the attendance of the third member, Leslie J. Clark, at Army Reserve camp with the 372d Military Police Company of which he is commanding officer.

Preparations are under way to zone the district in various classifications, all of which will be set up after the residents of the section to be zoned are given public hearings.

The board also moved to set up the machinery for building and occupancy permit applications and subsequent hearings or action on them.

10,000-Year-Old Relic

REGINA, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Saskatchewan Museum of Natural History has received a white quartz carving of a buffalo believed by archaeologists to be perhaps 10,000 years old. The 9½-inch relic, presumably the work of Indians or other primitive residents of this province, was found by a Saskatoon district farmer 12 years ago as he was plowing.

TEACHER ASSIGNED—Mrs. Eunice Moffatt Junkins, State Street, Lonaconing, a graduate of Frostburg State Teachers College this June, has been assigned as a teacher at Central Elementary School in her home town. She was graduated from Central High School, Lonaconing, in 1953. At college she was active in the Maryland Singers, Women's Recreation Association, and was on the year-book staff.

Elephants Dwindle

COLOMBO, Aug. 1 (AP)—Ceylon's acting commissioner of wild life, C. H. Holmes, predicts wild elephants will disappear from this island within five years. He estimates there are about 600 left in the jungles after the deaths of 200 or so in the past year in the face of encroaching cultivation.

New Air Agreement

ADDIS ABABA, July 30 (AP)—Ethiopia and Yemen have a new air agreement providing the American-manned Ethiopian airlines may make scheduled flights to San'a, the Yemini capital, and Hodeida.

Walsh, Douglas Head CUF Gifts Unit

William A. Douglas has been named chairman and William C. Walsh, co-chairman of the Golden Gifts Division of the County United Fund, Lewis J. Ort, CUF campaign chairman announced yesterday.

The Golden Gifts Division, embracing givers of $100 or more, is the first section of the County United Fund to organize and will swing into action as the "shock troops" in the campaign to garner $250,000 in gifts to cover the health, welfare and youth needs of the geographical "U" marked off by Cumberland, Frostburg, Tri-Towns and Keyser.

"It would be difficult to find two men better qualified to take the broad viewpoint required for organizing givers in the County United Fund," Ort said in appointing Douglas and Walsh.

He pointed out that both men are accustomed to doing things on a broad scale, Douglas as director of the far-flung operations of the Hazelwood Construction Company, of which he is president, and Walsh as an attorney with law offices in both Cumberland and Baltimore, as well as having been a circuit court and court of appeals judge, attorney general of Maryland, and prominent in county, state and national bar associations.

"Walsh has been active in community fund-raising campaigns for some 40 years," Ort added. "He served on the original board of the Community Chest in 1926, helped to draw up its constitution, and was active almost continuously in its affairs since then."

"Douglas is well known for his recent work in directing the building fund campaign of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, which exceeded $200,000, and for serving as president of the Cumberland Country Club during its reorganization and refinancing program."

"The ability of these two leading citizens in serving their fellow men has been amply demonstrated through their fraternal affiliations — Walsh through his work in the Knights of Columbus, and Douglas in Masonic, Shrine and Jesters' circles."

An insignia is being designed for the Golden Gifts Division, according to the campaign chairman, and will be distributed as soon as supplies are available. The division will provide a large percentage of the total gifts to the County United Fund, he added.

I have seven in my family, and considering gasoline and trouble running to the market, I would say I save on the average of $20.00 per week. I have had my freezer four months. Within that time I have ordered twice. One order was for $16.00 and my order last week, which will do me for a month and a half, was $28.00. I certainly am satisfied with the plan, I don't know how I did without it.

Mayor, Council To See Film On Sewage Plant

An hour-long movie on the construction of the city's sewage treatment plant will be shown to the Mayor and Council one evening next week.

Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer in charge of the $2,000,000 project, has had his engineering aides take films at regular intervals during the two years the plant has been under construction.

He told Mayor Roy W. Eves and Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, yesterday, that the films, after being edited, will take about an hour to run.

They will show much more than can be told in hours, he added. The sewage treatment plant has been the subject of much discussion by the council in recent weeks.

The project is over 150 days overdue from the original target date, and the contractor, Moyer Brothers Construction Company, of Altoona, has been pressing for $87,000 which the city is holding up pending final approval of the installation by the consulting engineer.

A city official, who preferred to remain anonymous yesterday, commented that the responsibility for the plant is all Regester's, and he should be fully satisfied with its operation before approving it.

Wednesday and yesterday Regester and Edward Kidd, of Regester's firm who has been assigned to this job, were at the plant.

The first sewage entered it Wednesday, and they were observing the operations of the facilities.

Mayor Says Dispute Is 'Tempest'

A tempest in a teapot, without any tea.

That was the opinion of Mayor Roy W. Eves of the Sylvan Retreat issue precipitated in a conversation among Board of Allegheny County Commissioners members Tuesday, July 23.

A report of that meeting said the commissioners desired a meeting with City Police to discuss procedures to be followed in having persons admitted to the mental institution.

A conference was set up for this Tuesday by the commissioners and city officials, but William V. Keegan informed William H. Lemmert, board president, that neither he nor Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn would attend.

He said he was opposed to having the meeting at Sylvan Retreat, and added that any meeting should have City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and the two local trial magistrates present. Finan was on vacation.

However, yesterday Mayor said that all the county desires is for city authorities to have an understanding of the situation at the crowded mental institution.

The highlight of Tuesday's meeting, he said, was a tour he took through Sylvan Retreat. The Mayor was the city's only representative at the session.

While Raymond G. Messmer, Sylvan Retreat superintendent, had no figures available at the moment, Mayor Eves said he has had information the City Police have sent no person to the mental institution since January 1.

Only one, he added, was admitted by State Police, while five were taken there for examination from the Health Department. These were taken to the institution by sheriff's deputies.

Trucker Sentenced To Death In Slaying

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 1 (AP)—Intermediate Judge David A. McKee turned down Thomas Cronk's motion for a new trial today and sentenced the South Wheeling truck driver to die in the electric chair for killing his father-in-law.

Cronk, 31, showed no emotion as Judge McKee sentenced him to be executed at the State Penitentiary on Friday, Sept. 13. However, that date was nullified when McKee granted an 80-day stay of execution to give defense lawyers time to prepare an appeal to Ohio County Circuit Court.

A jury on July 22 convicted Cronk of first degree murder in the shooting of James Mitcham, 45. The jury failed to recommend mercy, making the death sentence mandatory.

General Fund Surplus Of State Is $22,972,543

BALTIMORE, Aug. 1 (P)—Maryland closed the books on fiscal 1957 June 30 with a general fund surplus of nearly 23 million dollars, Comptroller J. Millard Tawes reported today.

This was about 3 1/4 million more than state financial experts estimated in April, when they made their last official guess.

Since the Legislature last winter approved the use of 16 1/2 million dollars from the anticipated surplus to help balance the current budget, this still would leave about 6 1/2 million from the fiscal 1957 surplus to help balance the budget for the fiscal year starting July 1958.

Tawes said the surplus included more than 5 1/4 million dollars in general fund money which had been appropriated for various state departments and agencies but was not spent. More than 2 1/2 million of this was turned back all of the men can be mobilized by the Department of Education and given assignments.

The comptroller said the reversions exceeded those of any other year he could remember.

His report showed that budget officials had over-guessed sales tax receipts by $731,796.55 but were $305,875.69 low on their income tax estimate and $1,194,041.68 low in estimating revenue from horse racing.

The organization's roster of about 400 men includes some 40 state departments and agencies in the event of a serious emergency million of this was turned back all of the men can be mobilized by the Department of Education and given assignments.

landmarks of both Western Maryland and the Potomac Valley.

It said it believes the present bill represents the best thought evolved over a period of eight or nine years, during which every phase of the proposed parkway has been discussed. Every effort has been made by the National Park Service and Department of Interior, it said, to satisfy objections of opponents. The Chamber added:

"A considerable part of the objection is based upon the assumption that hunting will be prohibited. It is true that hunting will not be permitted in the park itself, and as a matter of fact, is not even now allowed on canal property. Nevertheless, provisions have been made to make it possible for the state and federal governments to select the lands that are most needed for the historical park and the lands that are most needed for hunting and game propagation purposes."

Park Service Director Conrad Wirth, the statement said, testified at a committee hearing June 12 that "lands essential to hunting would not be included in the park. The large islands in the river which reportedly are favored hunting places likewise are not scheduled for inclusion in the park."

Returns Possible

Objections to the canal parkway from an industrial point of view have been anticipated and proper precautions have been taken, the Chamber stressed. The proposed bill provides for granting rights of way over, through or under canal property to assure municipalities and industry the privilege of reasonable access to the Potomac River and the use of its waters. Thus, it can no longer be argued that the parkway is a deterrent to industrial expansion of the area, said the Chamber.

"Precaution has also been taken to prevent wholesale purchase or sale of land by the Interior Department. The bill provides that the parkway is limited to a total area of 15,000 acres of land.

Girl Scout Campers Enter Third Session At New Site

The third session of the summer encampment at the new Girl Scout camping area near Flintstone is now in progress. This is a 12-day session which will end August 11, after which a one-week session will be held.

The U. S. Government already has 4,800 acres along the route of the C&O Canal parkway. The project therefore would not be wasteful. On the contrary, it offers the U. S. Government an opportunity to get some return on the millions of dollars that have been poured into the canal over many years past.

to conclude this summer's regular camping season.

Miss Olive Hurlburt, camp director and scout executive director, said a program of activity keeps the girls busy and the campers are specializing in various phases of outdoor cooking, despite the fact that they have available a comfortable and modern dining room and kitchen. In the outdoor cooking training, emphasis has been placed on one-pot meals, stick cooking, bean holes and reflector oven cooking. Each group has constructed some of the unit equipment from materials found on the camp site.

Wednesday evening's general campfire was on the theme "appreciation of nature." Each unit dramatized some phase of nature which has particularly impressed them while at camp. A similar program has been planned for visiting hours Sunday. Visiting hours are between 2 and 5, with the program being presented at 3:30, to be followed by the ceremony of lowering the flag.

Sunday afternoon's program and a special all-day event for the campers in the form of a Camp Fair has been planned by the camp council. The council is comprised of two campers from each unit who meet with the camp director twice each week. Members of the camp council for this period include Connie Brings, Darlene Black, Celeste Smith, Martha Milbrada, Sandra Bogdewick and Stephanie Granigan.

Brook Bodkin, Maryland state forest supervisor, conducted a fire and evacuation drill at the camp this week.

Miss Margarite Hall, program adviser from the National Girl Scouts, in a letter to the camp commenting on the camp newspaper, the "Pioneer Press," congratulated them on the imagination and "girl-centered program" which is reflected in the paper. The newspaper is published once during each encampment by campers and counselors.

U.S. Dollar Loses Another Nickel

The U. S. dollar in June was equal to about 95 cents as compared to the dollar in March a year ago. After 10 consecutive months of climbing, the Washington cost of living index is that much higher than 16 months ago. Using the current yardstick for consumer prices—the 1947-49 average as 100 per cent—the June index figure was 120.2, up 0.5 to another all-time high. And the price climb brought into automatic operation a factor that weighs on the side of still further price gains—escalator contracts giving higher pay to several hundred thousand workers throughout the country.

By themselves the higher earnings for these workers would be gratifying. But the higher prices they are certain to generate in a leap-frogging wage-and-price pattern threaten to raise the cost of living for everybody.

While 1947-49 averages now are the yardstick, the factors behind the pattern of present economic conditions go back much farther. The shift from a wartime economy to a stable peacetime basis after World War II had not been completed when the Korean conflict broke on the world.

The effect of that event on the economy along with the shift to an atomic age and the continuing stress between the East and the West have kept the world economy under unusual strains.

If the wage boost-price rise sequence continues to drain off the benefits of an expanding United States economy to the extent it has in recent months, it may be that the British government will show the way out of the economic woods. It is pictured as prepared to take unpopular steps to put the British economy back on a sound basis.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Graveyard Whistling

For some psychological reason, Americans, a most optimistic people, like to keep themselves cheerful by ignoring realities. Maybe that is why they live long and their women are so beautiful, but unfortunately in international politics, longevity and beauty do not solve fundamental problems, such as how to get along with the Russians and the Red Chinese.

When Nikita Khrushchev took his first step forward, within a few weeks after Stalin died, it was hardly noticed in this country. What happened was that Stalin's will put Malenkov into the position of Secretary of the Russian Communist Party which is the boss of the government. Khrushchev kicked Malenkov out of that job. That made Khrushchev Number One. It was as clear as could be that if a fellow could do that, he was on his way.

The next step was the trial of Beria who was executed and the elimination of Molotov and Malenkov from the headship of government. This ended the effectiveness of Stalin's will which named the triumvirate of Malenkov, Molotov and Beria to run the country.

Then Bulganin was placed at the head of the government. Bulganin has never been a top man, always a number two. Some men are by nature presidents of companies and some are foremen. Bulganin is the foreman type. So, in the United States we took it for granted that the head of the team was Bulganin and that Khrushchev was only the party boss, forgetting that the Communist Party acts as the dictatorship of the proletariat, which means that whoever bosses the party controls the government. From the day Bulganin became premier, Khrushchev's control was complete.

Then came the XXth Congress at which Khrushchev degraded Stalin, asserted new policies and generally kicked everybody all over the beach. For a while, it looked as though some of the other Russian leaders might stand up to Khrushchev and ask him where he got off bossing them the way he did. None of them stood up. They toed the mark the same as they used to do when Stalin butchered a colleague for frowning at him.

However, in Poland and in Hungary, they did rebel against Khrushchev who had Marshal Zhukov murder the Hungarians with a brutality not often seen in war. Poland accepted a compromise.

Now, Khrushchev has exiled Malenkov, Molotov, Kaganovich and Shepilov and there is no opposition. Then sings the chorus of official opinion: "Khrushchev could never have done that. It was Zhukov who helped him." Whenever everybody seems to be unanimous about what no one can know for sure, then it is certain that the record was manufactured officially and is being played over and over again for a purpose.

But the purpose is nonsensical whatever it is. The fact that President Eisenhower or any other American prefers Zhukov to Khrushchev can make no difference in Communist Russia, except that Zhukov might one day be killed for it. They will insist on running their own show.

Anyhow, as of this moment, the boss is Khrushchev, a heavy-drinking, loud-speaking, brawling peasant with a canny mind and a keen eye. Khrushchev is not an intellectual, nor is he a social philosopher. He is just a party boss who has thus far shown that he can manage his party.

Similarly, our experts have been looking forward to a row between Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung, between Soviet Russia and Red China. The British believe that such a row is inevitable and will save the world and they premise their policy upon it. It is altogether possible that something like that could happen in a century or so, but it is not in the nature of the Chinese to rush history. At any rate, in his famous statement of last December, Mao justified the Soviet murders in Hungary and used these words:

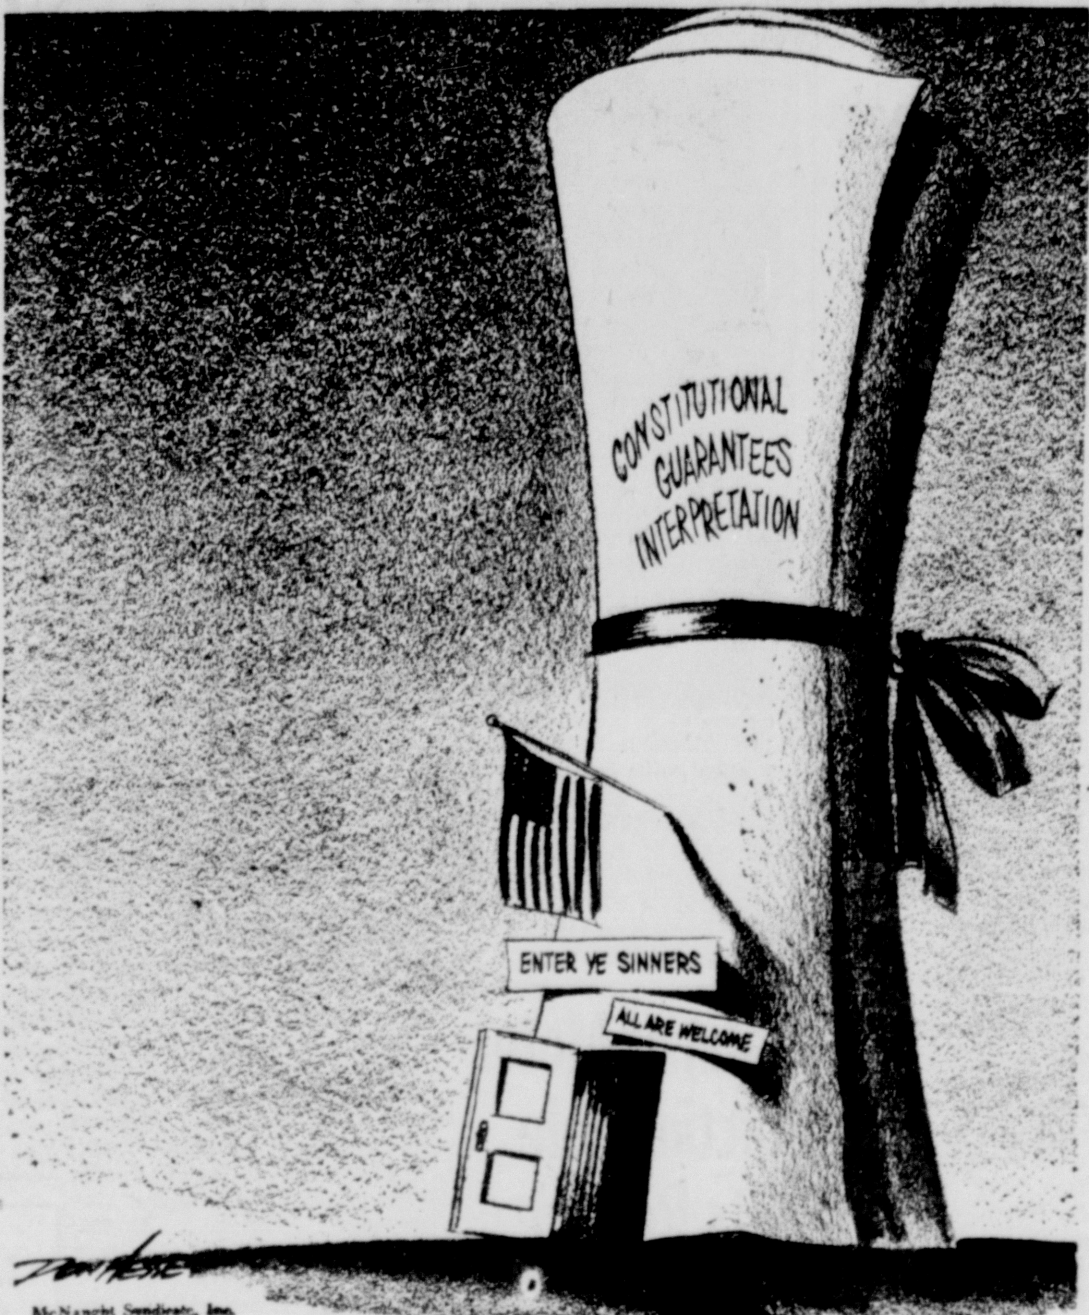

"The strengthening of the international solidarity of the proletariat will make the imperialist warmongers think twice before embarking upon new adventures. Therefore, despite the fact that the imperialists are still trying to resist the efforts (of the Communists), the forces for peace will eventually triumph over the forces of war."

Then Mao says: "When the socialist states commit errors of one kind or another, our enemies are elated while some of our comrades and friends become dejected; a number of them even waver in their confidence as to the future of the Communist cause. However, there is little cause for our enemies to rejoice or for our comrades and friends to feel dejected or to waver. The proletariat has begun to rule the state for the first time in history; . . ."

Mao remains a prisoner of the Kremlin.

How Many Conversions At This Mission?

France Re-Examining Her Algerian Policy

PARIS

By Joseph Alsop

The French government is now rather unhappily re-examining its own policy in Algeria. The final result will only be known in September, but the two possible outcomes are already quite easily foreseeable.

Either the present re-examination will be transformed into the beginning of a serious attempt to find an agreed solution of the agonizing Algerian problem, or the meeting of the United Nations Assembly in September will produce a blow-up inside the Western Alliance almost on the scale of the Suez crisis. The reasons for these alternatives are simple indeed.

In brief, in anticipation of the U. N. Assembly session, where Algeria will be the major item on the agenda, the French have been sounding out the American and British governments on the possibilities of securing their support. The chief sounding-out expedition was the trip to Washington of the able permanent under-Secretary of the French Foreign Office, Louis Joxe.

In a series of long, frank and friendly conversation, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in effect told Joxe that the United States very much wanted to support France once again in the U. N. but Dulles added firmly that France would have to propose some kind of Algerian solution that the United States could in all honesty endorse.

The best solution, Dulles insisted, would be one that Tunis and Morocco would also agree to endorse. This would mean recognizing the aspirations of the native Algerians, tying an at least semi-independent reorganized Algeria to Tunis and Morocco, and finally tying all three countries to France.

Secretary Dulles did not insist, however, that the new French proposals for Algeria should have Tunisian and Moroccan backing. He only insisted that the proposals must be serious, in the sense of offering some hope of producing eventual peace.

Last year, he pointed out, the United States had backed the plans of former Prime Minister Guy Mollet, for a ceasefire followed by free elections; but this had proved delusive. Now another plan must be put forward, with better chances of success than the Mollet plan. And this was one of the major obstacles to the rather desperate, post-Suez American effort to bring reasonable stability to the troubled Middle East.

Thus far the British government has taken a line parallel to the Dulles line. On this matter, London and Washington seem to be acting in concert, for once, in a way. Thus it seems likely that if France does not put forward new Algerian proposals of a sufficiently hopeful and constructive character, France will not have the support of either of the other major Western allies at the U. N. meeting.

If France goes into the U. N. Assembly with the whole Afro-Asian and Communist blocks against her, and with no support from the other great Western allies, the result must be a truly appalling defeat.

The consequences are really incalculable. For how will France, for instance, respond to a ringing U. N. condemnation? Only one consequence, indeed, can be calculated with real assurance. The ensuing recriminations inside the Western alliance will be heard around the world.

Such being the future prospect if France does not put forward constructive Algerian proposals, the re-examination of the Algerian problem that is being conducted here assumes the widest possible significance. But as yet, it must be said, the re-examination has not produced the kind of new proposals Washington and London are devoutly praying for.

Prime Minister Bourges Maunoury is seeking to draft a law giving the broad framework of a new organization of Algeria. Thus far, however, the framework law does not comprise the minimum recognition of Algeria as a national entity that could conceivably satisfy the Tunisians, the Moroccans or the Algerian dissidents. Instead, the most favored proposal at present is to divide Algeria into three provinces; to give each province a measure of autonomy and an elected provincial assembly; but to keep in French hands effective control of Algeria as a whole.

The American and British governments have already let it be known that this plan will not command their active support. Strong forces are certainly at work within the French government to secure much bolder proposals. The Foreign Minister Christian Pineau has even sponsored discreet negotiations with the Algerian rebel leaders.

If former Prime Minister Guy Mollet (the real maker of the Bourges Maunoury government), swings over to the side of bold action, this really may prove the beginning of a serious search for an agreed solution. But at present the betting is still against.

Many Cases Of Indigestion Due To Anxiety

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The causes of indigestion are numerous and the more serious conditions usually are detected with X-rays. If the films are negative, a nervous factor is suspected, especially when the sufferer is tense and under considerable strain. "Busy, busy, hurry, hurry" is a situation that rings a bell for many people. The man of today finds it difficult to escape tension because it is found in the home, on the highway, and at work.

Our welfare state tendencies have not added to our feeling of security. The changing times have made us more dependent upon others, which encourages insecurity. Furthermore, it must be frustrating to sit at or stand on an assembly line, doing one chore, and missing the satisfaction of completing a job. Competition also enters the picture, with its high goals and ambitions.

It is a sad state of affairs when indigestion takes the joy out of living. To eliminate it the person must become master of his own ship. This means full control of his behavior, bodily functions, and thought.

Relaxation can be achieved, provided the individual is willing to try. The No. 1 rule is to decide not to carry the world on your shoulders. Indigestion also is helped by eating sensibly. A bland, balanced diet is best during the bout. Eat slowly and do not stuff at each sitting or distend the stomach with too much fluid.

There is no need to purge vegetables and meats unless symptoms are severe. Milk may relieve or aggravate symptoms, and to find out—try it. Tobacco, spices, tea, coffee, and alcohol usually make matters worse because they stimulate or irritate the membranes of the stomach.

There is more to peace of mind than taking pills to quiet the nerves. On the other hand, drugs are available to divorce the gastrointestinal tract from the mind. They relieve indigestion but have no effect on the original cause. These products are known as anticholinergic drugs and Bantline is an example. Preparations like belladonna and Donnatal ease spasms.

REPLY Your brother is a matutino-phobe. These individuals take all morning to awaken and do their best work later in the day. Some of these fellows switch their "phobes" when they get married because of new incentives.

Newspaper Ad Defending Hoffa Timed To Coincide With Trial

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — How far Hoffa-Teamster forces went to influence the eight Negro members of the jury which helped acquit the no. 2 boss of the Teamsters is indicated by one of the most amazing advertisements ever to appear in a newspaper during a criminal trial in the nation's capital.

The ad was published July 6, right at the height of the Hoffa trial, by the Washington edition of The Afro-American, leading Negro newspaper of the Atlantic seaboard.

In addition, the Afro published an amazing column by Samuel Hoskins certainly not calculated to alienate the eight Negro jurors. Hoskins noted that Hoffa was being tried before "Her Honor U. S. District Judge Burnita S. Matthews, who hails from the Magnolia State of Mississippi, the same commonwealth which thrust Sir James O. Eastland upon the Democratic Party."

At about the time The Afro-American was published, with copies delivered to the homes of jurors, Judge Matthews confined the Hoffa jury to the courthouse.

They were not permitted to see uncensored newspapers. The Hoskins column also referred to the fact that Senate rackets chairman John McClellan of Arkansas, who brought the bribery charge against Hoffa, had been battling against the civil rights bill in the Senate. In contrast, Hoskins called Hoffa's trial attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, the "Sir Galahad of the legal arena," and thereafter referred to him as "Sir Williams."

Tallahassee Bus Boycott

The Afro-American publicity in defense of Hoffa coincided with the trip of ex-heavyweight champ Joe Louis to Washington to spend parts of two days in the courtroom as Hoffa's friend. The trip was especially arranged by Paul Dorfman of Chicago, labor racketeer friend of Hoffa, together with the Negro attorney, Truman Gibson. Though it was reported that Louis had come to Washington in connection with his tax troubles, the big, good-natured ex-boxing champ admitted to this column that the trip was entirely arranged by Dorfman and Gibson in order to help out Hoffa.

Negro members of the jury, after acquitting Hoffa, told reporters that their verdict was not influenced by race.

One of the most significant incidents in the Hoffa trial was a question asked of chief government witness John Cye Cheasty by Hoffa's defense counsel as to whether he had used a fictitious identity when he was employed by the city of Tallahassee to investigate the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People during the Tallahassee bus boycott.

Cheasty was not permitted to answer. However, the government then proceeded to turn the question against Hoffa by asking Cheasty to tell what happened in Tallahassee.

Cheasty then told how he had defended Negroes and referred to the "skunks" who beat up "pregnant Negro women." The testimony boomeranged against Hoffa.

It was significant, therefore, that the full-page ad published in The Afro-American dealt largely with this testimony. The ad was signed by "Frank Crowling, director of Detroit citizens' civic committee." Neither this organization nor Frank Crowling is listed in the Detroit telephone directory, and neither is known to Detroit's Negro Congressman, Charles Diggs, nor to other Detroit Congressman. Furthermore, Detroit City records show no registration for the "Detroit Citizens Civic Committee."

At The Afro-American, this writer was informed that the ad was placed by John Cowling of Detroit. Mr. Cowling, it was learned, is employed by the Wayne County Treasurer and came to Washington during the Hoffa trial to work for Hoffa. He informed The Afro-American that he was a director of the Metropolitan Civic Committee of Detroit. Inquiry among Negro leaders in Detroit disclosed that this organization published the "Democratic Delegates Digest." An attempt to place an ad with the Digest brought the reply that it was printed only just before elections.

Enemy Of NAACP

At any rate the full-page ad which Cowling inserted in The Afro-American under the name of Frank Crowling went out of the way to throw mud on government witness Cheasty, while defending Hoffa.

"On one side of the scale of justice," said the ad, "stands a two-sided direct, uncompromising fighter for labor whose blunt technique in our wildest imagination could never be associated with a cloak and dagger method. On the other side of the scale of justice stands the accuser, John Cye Cheasty . . . who admits he was hired by a committee which was probing Negro schoolteachers and the NAACP."

"Negro citizens of Florida and America are breathing heavily in wonderment of how men like John Cye Cheasty can skip over the nation, securing top employment at will, when our nation is loaded with unemployed lawyers."

References to Cheasty's testimony and the Tallahassee incident were tied into the Hoskins column in The Afro-American. Hoskins told how after the Negro attorney, Mrs. Jefferson, had arrived from Los Angeles, "the firebrand minister from Tallahassee, Florida, Rev. C. K. (bus boycott) Steele explained for the return trip south."

"The Reverend Mr. Steele, Florida's edition of Alabama's Rev. Martin Luther King," continued Hoskins, "came to Washington as the result of being subpoenaed to testify as a witness."

To Negro readers this obviously meant that one of the great heroes of the bus boycott movement of the south was on the side of Jimmy Hoffa.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

Recently reported have been several cases of taxicab driver and others finding large sums of cash. In New York and many other states money found becomes the property of the finder if not claimed by the properly identified loser within a certain period. The question arises, how about the income tax on money found. Suppose a man found $50,000 in cash. Would it be tax free? Ask your lawyer. This situation could have some interesting angles.

HORSES AND WOMEN

In the yesteryear in Ireland red-haired women with freckles were considered the outstanding beauties. So says a historian. Whether or not this type of female can be rated as tops in beauty is open to discussion. However, red-haired girls with freckles are still considered extremely interesting companions by men of experience. Especially on the moonlight strolls. They are said to be intensely affectionate. As wives they are reported very difficult to handle. In fact, it is said only a red-haired man is capable of keeping a red-haired wife under reasonable control.

GET IT RIGHT

Am asked the maiden name of Mike Todd's first wife. It was Bertha Freshman. Mike, whose real name is Avron Hirsch Goldbogen, married Bertha in 1926 when he was 18 years old. She died in 1946. They had one son, Michael Todd Jr., now 28 years old.

THAT CLUB

A rumor, not yet confirmed, is that Gerard Regard of Boston, Mass., is being groomed to run for President of the My Name Is A Poem Club in a determined effort by New Englanders headed by Truly Dooley of Providence, R. I., to dislodge the present holder of the office, Hugh Blue of Arcadia, Calif. When queried about this possibility Mr. Blue, without even looking up from his Racing Form, said, "No comment."

ASKING

Queries from clients. Q. Are you still stubbornly claiming Voltaire did not write or speak the immortal quotation beginning "I disapprove of what you say?" I have before me four books of quotations that say he did. How about this? A. There is no record of Voltaire having made the observation you mention. For the facts, check in the appendix of Stevenson's "Home Book of Quotations." . . . Q. Saw Harold "Red Grange" yesterday. Do you share my opinion that he was the greatest football player in the history of the "Big Ten"? A. Grange was a great and spectacular player but my choice for the greatest of "Big Ten" football players is Walter Eckersall.

LAZY PEOPLE Lazy people often originate labor devices. Ole Evinrude, as you know, invented the outboard motor boat because he was too lazy to row a boat. Now a young fellow who was too lazy to regularly mow the family lawn has invented a power lawn mower that can be operated by remote control. Yes, sir, with this remarkable machine it is possible to sit on the porch and enjoy a highball and mow the lawn at the same time.

PLEASE NOTE

Eighteen year old Bob Taylor, sensational major league rookie from Metropolitan, Ill., said he had never been on a railroad train until recently. That doesn't necessarily mean he comes from a very rural section or hasn't been around. I know several 18-year-old fellows living in New York who have never been on a railroad train. They have done all their traveling by automobile or plane.

Federated GOP Women Plan District Picnic

Blackwater Falls Event Saturday

KEYSER — Plans are underway for the Second Congressional District picnic to be held Saturday at Blackwater Falls, by members of the Federated Republican Women's Clubs of West Virginia. The women selected Blackwater Falls, at Blackwater State Park, near Davis as the site of the outing.

Plans are about complete, according to Mrs. Rhoda King, president of the Petersburg chapter and district organizer. She said the picnic is scheduled to open at the park at 12 o'clock noon, EST, and there will be plenty of picnic tables available. Members of chapters in Keyser, Petersburg, Elkins, Romney, Kingwood, Morgantown, Berkeley Springs, Franklin, Martinsburg, Parsons, Moorefield and Charles Town have already sent replies that they will have large representations.

The picnic is not restricted to members and families of members. Friends of the district will be welcomed. Those attending have been asked to provide one meat dish and one other dish of food, and each group will furnish its own beverages.

Among state notables will be Mrs. Hova Underwood, wife of the governor; Senator Chapman Revercomb, Mrs. Peter Gibson, Mrs. Frederick Becker and Mrs. Mary Elkins.

Mrs. Haven Sions, president of the Mineral County chapter, said yesterday that Mineral County will be well represented. Plans are being made to furnish transportation to any persons wishing to attend. They are asked to call Mrs. Harold J. Snyder, 21391, or Mrs. Wade Parrill, 25371, and get information as to time of leaving, etc.

Churches Plan Welcome For New Minister

FLINTSTONE — Five churches comprising the Flintstone Methodist Circuit, will hold a get-together at the Flintstone church this evening, to formally welcome their new pastor and his family.

Rev. Edward B. Blevins was recently appointed to the Flintstone Circuit, coming into the Baltimore Conference from the West Virginia Conference. He succeeds Rev. Edward Hanshaw who served the charge for the past three years, but was recently transferred to the Methodist Charge, Northfork, W. Va.

The five churches in the Flintstone Circuit include Flintstone, Chaneyville, Mt. Collier, Mt. Hermon and Murleys Branch. Each church congregation is invited to attend the welcome program tonight and to help with refreshments. Those attending are asked to bring staple groceries and foods to replenish the pantry.

Rev. Blevins and his family came here from Fairview, W. Va., where he was pastor of a Methodist charge.

Women Of Moose Postpone Picnic

PIEDMONT — The picnic scheduled for August 11 by members of Piedmont Chapter 925, Women of the Moose, has been postponed to August 18 due to a district meeting to be held in Martinsburg on August 11. The event will be held at Big Run.

Plans are underway for a friendship supper to be held in the Moose home August 8 at 6 p. m.

A meeting has been called for Tuesday when a drill will be held and new members will be used.

The next regular meeting of the chapter will be held August 6 at 8 p. m. in the Moose home.

Stange Cadets Tops In Field

TYRONE, Pa. — The Stange Cadet Marching and Twirling Corps of Altoona has accepted an invitation to appear in the Tyrone Centennial Pageant "Proud Heritage" to be presented at the Gray Memorial Field on August 12-15. The huge panoramic pageant will portray roles varying from Indians to "Gay 90's" scenes.

The Cadet Corps is believed to be the only corps of its kind in America today and is composed of boys and girls aged 6 to 17.

The Corps for the past two years was the winner of the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival at Winchester, Va., the largest springtime festival in America.

In June, the Cadets appeared at the Canadian Band Festival at Waterloo, Ontario and were proclaimed the Honorary Junior Corps of the Festival.

On Saturday, June 29, the Cadets along with some 50 bands, drum corps, and drill units and over 400 baton twirlers massed in the 10-acre amphitheatre before more than 30,000 spectators for the feature show of the Music Festival. It is shows such as this that have made the festival one of the largest on the continent.

One of the highlights of the evening performance in the arena was a precision drill exhibition by the Stange Cadets. To a ruffle of drums, 55 Cadets made their entrance on the field as the Color Guard unfurled the Colors and hoisted the American Flag. Then with a resounding fanfare of bugles, the young cadets, attired in their picturesque summer uniforms of cerise and black, marched down the field and presented their drill, using as their theme "A Salute to America."

Boast Many Champs In recognition of the Cadets as Honorary Junior corps, the Cadets were presented with a large trophy inscribed, "To the Stange Cadets of Altoona for Excellence in Field Drill."

Among other guest performers on the program were the Canadian Junior Champion Drum Corps, the Preston Scout House Band, and the Royal Canadian Air Force Band from Winnipeg. During the past week the Cadets have accepted an invitation to appear at the Tangerine Bowl football game at Orlando, Fla., on January 1, 1958.

The Cadets also boast the largest boys' baton twirling corps in the world. The Cadets have within their ranks 17 state baton twirling medals, 10 national trophies, and four world medals.

The Corps is under the direction of Henry Stange, winner of five national and nine state baton twirling championships.

The Stange Cadets will appear in each performance of "Proud Heritage" in the Prologue Scene which opens the show. As well as the Cadets, the scene will be comprised of a Color Guard, Trumpeters, 50 beautiful girls, dressed in white and carrying American Flags, 16 mounted Civilian Defense Horsemen, a nationally famous Drum and Bugle Corps, "Miss Tyrone" and her Royal Court and the "Little Queen" and her Baby Court. On the opening night, Monday, August 12, Congressman James E. Van Zandt will also participate in the scene when he crowns the two Queens.

Bedford Fair Open For Week Next Monday

Plan Auto Races On August 10

BEDFORD — There's fun for the whole family at the Great Bedford Fair, and every year the circle of fairgoers widens to include more and more city and suburban dwellers, who share the joys of an old-fashioned day and evening at "the Fair" with their "country cousins."

Emerging as Western Pennsylvania's greatest county fair, the exposition at Bedford fairgrounds will combine the most modern trends in entertainment with the nostalgic joys of the past, during the week of August 5 through August 10.

It will all be there — the finest of livestock shows, agricultural exhibits, the huge Jimmy Strides midway, complete with rides, shows, candy apples and the aroma of onions and hot dogs... thrill shows, harness racing, parading band and auto races.

Fairs are for the young in heart, and the Bedford Fair management will open up its grounds on two days — Tuesday, Aug. 6 and Friday, Aug. 9 — to the youngsters free of charge. There will be prizes, special events, and special low grandstand rates for the afternoon vaudeville show.

The Bedford Fair has gone modern, too, with a series of special performances by top-billed television and stage stars. The Four Aces will be the headline attraction of Hamid's great night revue, "Havana Holiday" on Tuesday and Wednesday nights. The Fontaine Sisters follow, on Thursday and Friday, while Vicki Adams tops the show Saturday.

In addition, there are four fine vaudeville acts — the acrobatic Symphonettes, comical Maxie and Millie, the daring Coronas on the high wire, and Vedbel's baby elephants. The night revue again features the beautiful chorus line.

Opening the fair Monday night will be Joie Chitwood's daredevils, featuring the newest of thrills — Jet Rasini's rocket car loop-the-loop.

Thirteen bands have signed to appear in a parade and mass performance Wednesday afternoon on "Band Day," while the prize-winning Grove City Plaidettes will make a special appearance both day and night on the second Children's Day, Friday.

Big car auto races will bring the 1957 exposition to a smashing climax Saturday afternoon, again under Sam Nunis direction. Leaders in the Indianapolis and eastern big car field are signed to compete in six events, with time trials starting at 1 o'clock.

The fair management will give away a Ford hardtop "hideaway" convertible Skyliner at the close of the performance Saturday night.

Television & Radio

At any rate, the construction worker lost his $626 and the studio audience responded by applauding wildly. "What are they applauding?" asked the construction worker, slightly dazed by this lack of sympathy. Well, now that's a very good question. I have often wondered what studio audiences were applauding myself. I have even speculated on the possibility that there's an entirely different show going on in the studio, conceivably a strip-tease. Or maybe, in the light of all the canned laughter that is doing the rounds, this is canned applause left over from the presidential campaigns.

In another stunt of the evening, a contestant was allowed to kiss a pretty model on the cheek and later laid his head on a railroad track while a small train pushed a cream pie in his face.

"Isn't this more fun than standing in a stuffy isolation booth?" shouted our jovial master of ceremonies.

Well, that shows which way the wind blows. All those intellectuals standing in those stuffy isolation booths answering stuffy questions about the Punic Wars are being elbowed aside by healthy athletic types playing wholesome games like having cream pies shoved in their faces out in the open air of the studio. It's a great step backward.

Announcement of the award was made by W. R. Easton, commander of Hampshire Post.

"Child Welfare is one of the American Legion's major programs," Commander Easton said, "and we are proud that our effort has been honored in this way."

The commander gave much of the credit for winning the award to Edward Bright, who is child welfare chairman of the post.

Once each year all American Legion posts are required to submit a report of their work for children and youth. It was on the basis of this report that Hampshire Post No. 91 was selected as having carried on the most outstanding program in the district during the past 12 months.

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Miss Louise Pyles, 17-year-old Keyser High School graduate, was crowned "Miss West Virginia Poultry Queen VI" at the conclusion of a two-hour program in the Moorefield High School auditorium as the fifteenth annual West Virginia Poultry Association convention opened.

Two girls from nearby Hampshire County finished second and third in the field of 31 princesses from a dozen West Virginia counties, Miss Sudelle Kiser being chosen first runnerup and Miss Wilma Lee Shields the second runnerup.

Miss Pyles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pyles, of Keyser, plans to enter Potomac State College in September. A comely blonde, she was a majorette at Keyser High and regards herself a typical teenager in her hobbies and other interests.

College Sophomore

Miss Kiser, 20, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Kiser, of Romney, has completed her sophomore year at the Medical College of Virginia, Richmond, and plans a medical career.

Miss Shields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denver Shields, of Romney, will be a sophomore at Potomac State College this fall. The new queen, who succeeds Mrs. Patricia (Western) Scott, of Wardenville, was crowned by J. O. Knapp, director of agriculture extension at West Virginia University. Morgan was accorded the title as the leader of the state broiler contest Pro League's honor roll. Another Greenbrier countian, Leroy Baker, was cited as the Semi-Pro League champion.

Dr. Homer Patrick, head of the poultry husbandry department at West Virginia University, crowned the two winners. Morgan received an engraved mantle clock, and Baker a wrist watch.

Assessments Show Climb In Hardy Co.

Total Tax Base Is $16,470,800

MOOREFIELD — Hardy County's total assessed valuation jumped more than three quarters of a million dollars to $16,470,800, according to the valuations released by Assessor Anton Keller last week. Last year's total valuation was $15,656,065. The new total valuation figure will be used in fixing the levy of taxes in the estimates which will be confirmed next week.

Largest jump in assessed valuations was in personal property which rose $573,425 from $6,840,175 to $7,413,700. Utility assessments rose $54,400 from a total of $2,792,800 in 1956 to $2,847,200 in 1957. Real estate taxes rose $226,820 from $5,983,090 to $6,209,910.

Officials pointed out the utility assessments would rise next year due to increased investments in modernization of property and cited the construction of the Hardy Telephone Company, the change to dial system by the Central Telephone Company, new lines and services by the Potomac Light and Power Company and the new loop in the gas line which runs through the county.

Cheese & Bacon Rice Salad

Rice salads are a new idea the alert homemakers are going for in a big way! A rice salad is easier to fix than potato or combination salad as the rice doesn't need washing, scraping, peeling or cutting up. It's perfect for a picnic or as a last minute salad because it's just as good not too cold. Since rice is an excellent food buy, it makes today's most inexpensive salad.

This salad uses bacon, sharp cheese, sweet pickles and radishes. A rice salad can be made with almost any meat, vegetable and seasoning. In this one, green peppers could substitute for the radishes. Diced luncheon meat could replace the bacon. And sliced hard-cooked eggs would be a nice addition. For a more flavorful salad add the mayonnaise and some of the seasonings while the rice is hot! The sky's the limit with a rice salad so use your own imagination and artistic touch when it comes to a garnish.

INGREDIENTS:
2 cups water
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon black pepper
1 cup uncooked white rice
6 strips bacon
¼ cup mayonnaise
½ cup chopped sweet pickles
¼ pound sharp cheese, cut in ½" cubes
1 cup thinly sliced radishes
Salad greens

METHOD: Put the water, salt, black pepper and rice in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil over a high heat. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid and simmer over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on 10 minutes.

While the rice cooks, place the bacon in a cold skillet. Cook slowly until crisp, pouring off the fat as the bacon cooks.

After the rice cooks, stir in the mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons of the bacon fat and the pickles. Coarsely chop the bacon and stir in. After the rice cools, stir in the cheese and radishes. Cover well and store in the refrigerator until time to serve. This salad is excellent served either at room temperature or chilled.

Serve with mayonnaise or French dressing. Serve on salad

Something Hot . . . Something Cold

Here's a perfect summer supper. Something hot and satisfying, something cold and refreshing . . . and something easy! For the "something hot" there are piping hot and delicious individual meat pies (ready-to-bake from the freezer, of course). Add the following dress-up touches to make them extra special.

Beef pies look and taste scrumptious when spread with luscious dairy sour cream after they're baked. Garnish with thinly sliced scallions.

Slice a few spiced peaches and arrange on top of baked turkey pies. You'll enjoy the flavor contrast, and the pies will look pretty enough for a party.

You'll wonder why you hadn't thought of this: Spread chicken pies, after they come from the oven, with whole cranberry sauce mixed with a little grated orange rind.

Coolness comes by contrast. Introduce your piping hot main course with a frosty soup. Add a cool-as-a-cucumber salad, hot bread, and an iced beverage . . . it's hot-weather mealtime perfection.

This recipe make 8 to 10 servings.

Formula for a perfect summer supper: Something hot, something cold . . . and something easy! Freezer storage provides the menu. Frosty cold shrimp soup is followed by piping hot individual beef pies (topped with sour cream and scallions). A cool green salad, hot corn muffins, minted iced tea and fruit ice complete this memorable meal.

Easy Pie Has Rice Crust

"As easy as pie" certainly applies to this pie! The crust is a new idea for a no-bake crust! It's made of rice cooked in milk, slightly sweetened and flavored with pecans. Use almonds if you like. The crust can be made a day ahead and stored in the refrigerator. Use a prepared pie filling mix for an extra easy dessert. A pudding type filling or a fruit filling may be used. Top with a meringue or with whipped cream.

INGREDIENTS:
1½ cups water
¾ cup uncooked white rice
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
¼ cup beet or cane sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup finely chopped pecans or almonds
Prepared lemon or blueberry pie filling or your favorite pudding or fruit filling

METHOD: Put the water, rice and salt in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil over a high heat. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid and simmer over this low heat 14 minutes. Stir in the milk. Cover and simmer over a low heat 40 to 55 minutes or until the milk is absorbed. Time will depend upon amount of heat under saucepan. Do not allow to boil. Stir occasionally. Stir in the sugar.

After the rice cools, stir in the vanilla and pecans or almonds. Spread over the bottom and sides of a wet 10" pie plate with sloping sides. Do not spread on the rim. Final shaping of crust is done when rice is cold. Cover well and store in the refrigerator to chill. Store overnight if desired. Before filling crust, build up sides so filling will hold 2 to 2½ cups of filling. Prepare filling according to package directions or use your

Senate Cloakroom by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

This week — or, to be more specific, the last day of July — would normally be the official deadline for the adjournment of the Senate and the House of Representatives.

However, the same law which sets this final closing date also provides that it does not have to be observed "in time of war or during a national emergency proclaimed by the President." And this exception within the law applies today.

Officially our country is still in the state of "national emergency" proclaimed in 1950 by Mr. Truman, who was President at the time.

The current session of the Congress can continue indefinitely, therefore, without ever a passing nod to its regular adjournment deadline.

Precautionary Measure

The condition of "national emergency" which I mentioned should not be confused in any way with a state of war.

Under an emergency proclamation such as the one which has been in effect since the Korean conflict, a great many extraordinary provisions of law are automatically kept in force to permit the Government to take necessary action promptly.

The condition has been maintained as a precautionary, stand-by measure.

Disagreement On Adjournment

Even under normal circumstances, the time limit which was imposed on Congressional sessions by the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 could be extended by the mere passage of a resolution by both Houses.

It is interesting to note, while considering this subject, that in case of disagreement between the two Houses as to a time, the Constitution authorizes the President to "adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper."

No President has ever exercised this power, and there is some question as to whether it might not apply solely to special sessions which he himself called.

GALLERY PASSES

One last word, now, about adjournment. Many Marylanders have told me they would like to hear a debate or discussion on the Senate Floor.

Since the 83rd Congress is now beginning to wind up its first session, anyone who wishes to visit the Senate while it is in action should do so as soon as possible.

Passes permitting visitors to enter the Senate gallery are available in my office—Room 244, Senate Office Building. We will be glad to have you drop in to pick them up.

NOTES FROM MY APPOINTMENT BOOK—During the week I had the privilege of joining with Senator Butler in the introduction of a resolution designed to establish an annual day of commemoration to honor the Navy's oldest fighting ship, the Frigate "Constellation." I also kept in constant touch with the Department of Agriculture concerning reports on Maryland's drought conditions, and I renewed my protests against plans to build a second Washington airport at Burke's.

Along The Potomac by Rep. De Witt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — I have long provided loans to veterans in small towns and rural areas as a matter of course. I have introduced a House Resolution calling for a special House committee to study and make recommendations aimed at strengthening congressional control over the public purse. I believe this will lead to real savings to the tax payer.

On My Calendar
Saturday, August 3, 1 p. m., Barnesville Picnic, St. Mary's Church.
Sunday, August 4, 2 p. m., WMAL-TV Chan. 7, Celebrity Parade.

Others matters of interest to government employees and retirees that have occupied my attention include an increase in postal salary scales for which I voted. I am also happy to report that our efforts in behalf of legislation to permit the Civil Service Commission to take over and maintain the assets and liabilities of Government employee group life insurance associations has resulted in a House subcommittee favorably reporting the Senate-passed bill to accomplish this.

In seeking ways of maintaining a high level of employment in Maryland, I attended a conference with the Secretary of the Navy to work out plans to send more Navy repair work to Baltimore shipyards. The grant of a $12 million research and development contract to the Fairchild plant in Hagerstown is of interest and benefit to my District.

The House Ways and Means Committee has favorably reported a bill which would amend the Social Security Act and extend to the states the privilege of social security coverage for state and local police and firemen now under state retirement systems. This bill does for all of the states what my bill would have done for Maryland.

The House Public Works Committee has favorably reported my bill to transfer ownership of Bailey Bridge at Corriganville in Allegany County from the federal government to the county. I have requested the Veterans Administration to declare veterans in Allegany County eligible for direct housing loans. A bill passed by the House and now awaiting Senate action directs the Veterans Administration to

Cereal Quick Breads Add To Hot-Weather Meals

Many interesting, hot-weather menus can be planned around cereal quick breads if a supply of these delicious breads is on hand. Bake the cereal quick breads on a cool day and store in the freezer. If no freezer is available, they keep well for several days if wrapped in moistureproof saran and stored in the refrigerator.

It is hard to resist a tempting, cool, refreshing breakfast of chilled fruit or fruit juice, ready-to-eat cereal with chilled milk, and hot, buttered toast made from homemade Orange Bran Bread or Cereal Flake Date Bread. This breakfast follows a basic breakfast pattern of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter, recommended by leading doctors and dietitians as an adequate breakfast pattern.

A quick, attractive, easy-to-prepare, summer, luncheon main dish is a fresh fruit plate with finger sandwiches of Orange Bran Bread and Cereal Flake Date Bread with a cream or cottage cheese filling. Another variation is to serve the cereal quick bread sandwiches with a large, chilled fruit cup.

These moist, flavorful, cereal quick breads make excellent sandwiches for a picnic. Sandwiches made with frozen slices of the cereal breads keep in excellent condition en route to the picnic area.

Breakfast cereals enhance the flavor and texture of the quick breads in addition to increasing the nutritive value by making an important contribution of protein, the B-complex vitamins, minerals, and food energy.

Delicious, attractive, nutritious, homemade quick breads may be just the touch that is needed to turn ordinary hot-weather menus into interesting, appetite-tempting menus.

With the help of canned condensed consommé, plan a sparkling menu for summer time dining. Serve jellied consommé in delicate glass dishes. Accompany with simple but pretty finger sandwiches.

Summer Sparkle . . . Jellied Consomme

Will not and worry not over that luncheon party for your weekend guests. With the help of canned condensed consommé, it's easier than ever to plan a sparkling menu, and be sparking yourself as you sit down to enjoy it. Set a summer table with your thinnest and prettiest glass dishes. They portray that cool, cool look, an aid to digestion on the stickiest of days. For the center piece, select delicate pastel flowers. Arrange them in a wisp glass bowl.

Now turn to the kitchen, this one a cool kitchen, and to your pantry where you've stored several cans of condensed consommé (just prepare far enough ahead so soup has time to chill and jell). In short order you can combine this delicacy with some crisp accessories (green pepper and carrot). "Soups on" with no work except the 4 hours of chilling.

SUMMER SPARKLE SALAD, when accompanied by a selection of simple but pretty finger sandwiches (deviled ham salad, parsley butter and cucumber slices, corned beef and pickle relish) is elegantly refreshing main fare. You, too, can be a guest at your own party with this kind of menu planning.

Strawberry Lemon Pie Is A Must

Poets have been singing the praises of strawberries for centuries but most of us, unblest with a poet's ability, just enjoy this fruit without rhyme but with very good reason. This recipe is an innovation among strawberry desserts. It features strawberries served with whipped instant nonfat dry milk crystals . . . the new crystalline form of nonfat dry milk solids that dissolve instantly even in ice cold water. Whipped instant crystals topping is light in calories, too . . . 2½ lighter than whipped cream. Keep either the 4- or 8-quart size box handy always. Mix according to package directions for a delicious, fresh flavored beverage.

Strawberry Lemon Pie
(Makes 9-inch pie)
3 eggs, slightly beaten
 $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sugar
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup lemon juice
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 9-inch unbaked pastry shell
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar
2½ cups whipped instant nonfat dry milk crystals
1 pint fresh California strawberries, sliced

Combine eggs, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sugar, lemon juice, lemon rind and butter; mix well. Turn into pastry shell. Bake in slow oven (325°) 1 hour, or until lightly browned. Cool. Add $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar to whipped instant crystals. Arrange strawberries and sweetened whipped instant crystals over lemon mixture. Garnish with additional strawberries, if desired. Serve at once.

*To whip instant nonfat dry milk crystals (Makes about 2½ cups)
Mix $\frac{1}{2}$ cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals with $\frac{1}{2}$ cup ice water. Whip until soft peaks form (3-4 minutes). Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Continue beating until stiff peaks form 3-4 minutes longer.

WIFE PRESERVER
To make a lemon flavored hard sauce, take one-fourth cup of butter, one and one-half cups of powdered sugar, the grated rind of one-half lemon, and two tablespoons of lemon juice. Cream butter, add sugar and beat well, then gradually add grated rind and lemon juice.

Congressional Viewpoint by Sen. John M. Butler

Another Trial Balloon

WASHINGTON — These comments are offered not in acrimony, but to illustrate the "trial balloon" method sometimes used by government officials to measure public opinion or to prepare the public for an ultimate eventuality. The President's recent off-the-cuff remark suggesting that a conference between Marshal Zhukov of Russia and Secretary of Defense Wilson might have a constructive purpose has invoked a curious chain reaction ending with an Administration statement that such a meeting was not anticipated or expected.

Zhukov is head of the Soviet armed forces, but he is also an important leader in the Soviet Communist Party and thus in the international communist movement. Many observers now count him as the "No. 2 man in the Soviet Union." It ought not to be doubted, therefore, that Zhukov is a faithful communist, dedicated, as are his Kremlin associates, to the communication and domination of the entire world through foul or placid means. Typically, before becoming Defense Minister, Zhukov accused "the aggressive forces of the imperialist countries headed by the United States monopolists" of "openly preparing a new war against the Soviet Union."

It seems to me that the propriety of meeting with Zhukov on American soil, or elsewhere—be it with the President, the Secretary of Defense or lesser officials—falls the test of good logic on more than one score. Basic differences in ideologies aside, it cannot be denied that Zhukov put down the Hungarian revolution last October with ruthless abandon of human life. It cannot be denied that Zhukov places no credence in the principles of freedom for all mankind and the dignity of the individual. We are told that Zhukov once made this incredible assertion during World War II to General Eisenhower: "Human Life? What is it? 1,000 lives? 10,000 lives? 100,000 lives? What are they? Nothing." How then could we possibly find a common ground of understanding for conversation with the "butcher of Budapest?"

On the basis of these cold facts,

I am unable to contemplate any advantage which could be gained through a meeting with Zhukov. To the contrary, the ceaseless communist propaganda machine would once again pervert the truth to the extent that he would be presented as a "dove of peace" rather than as just another "red butcher" of devious rather than noble purpose. I predict that this latest "trial balloon" will be deflated by the same public reaction which cancelled, some months ago, an invitation for Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia to visit in this country.

Although famous as the inventor of the telephone, Alexander Graham Bell always gave his profession as "a teacher of the deaf," his lifetime interest. Helen Keller was taken to Dr. Bell as a six-year-old, deaf, blind, and unable to speak. He helped direct the education that enabled her to communicate with others.

Three New Delicious Fudge Variations

Fudge, that old favorite, becomes a new delight in these three new variations: Vanilla Apricot, Cherry Almond, tinted pink with your Color Kit, and Maple Nut Fudge.

Nothing makes a nicer gift—nor a prettier one, especially if you add for variety some rich brown chocolate fudge flavored with pure peppermint extract. The recipes were developed by Burnett's home kitchen with an eye toward the junior cook because they are so easy to make. Inexpensive 5" aluminum foil dishes double as fudge pans and gift containers, crayly wrapped, or you can save up suitable gift boxes. Each recipe makes 1 1/4 pounds.

VANILLA APRICOT FUDGE

2/3 cup light cream 2 tablespoons light corn syrup
2 cups sugar 1 teaspoon Burnett's pure vanilla extract
1/2 cup diced dried apricots

Pour cream, sugar, corn syrup in heavy saucepan. Cook slowly, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking until the temperature reaches 234° F. or until a small amount of mixture dropped in a cup of cold water forms a soft ball. Remove from heat. Cool to lukewarm, add pure vanilla extract and beat until mixture thickens and begins to lose gloss. Add apricots cut with scissors. Pour into buttered pan. When set, cut in squares.

Cherry Almond Fudge: Substitute pure almond extract for vanilla. Add a few drops red food coloring and 1/3 cup drained diced maraschino cherries.

Maple Nut Fudge: Add maple extract instead of vanilla, and 3/4 cup chopped walnuts.

Cranberry Goes Well With Chops

Lamb Chops have always been a delicacy on the menu but when they're served with a colorful hot cranberry sauce they're even more in demand.

Ask your butcher to cut the lamb chops 2 inches thick for this recipe. The hot cranberry sauce can be spooned over the chops the last half hour of baking OR it can be heated and served separately.

Baked Lamb Chops With Hot Cranberry Sauce

Select six 2 inch thick lamb chops. Wrap with lean bacon and fasten with toothpicks. Dip lightly in flour. Sauté in 5 tablespoons melted butter, being careful not to burn the butter. Put in heat resisting casserole. Roast in 350° F. oven for 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Pour the following sauce over the chops 1/2 hour before end of baking time or serve the sauce hot with the chops.

Hot Cranberry Sauce
1 lb. can whole cranberry sauce
1/2 cup applesauce
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Whip all ingredients together until "saucy." Heat until hot and serve as sauce with the lamb chops or use sauce to baste chops the last half hour of baking. We think it a wonderful combination for Barbecue Fans.

Skewered Lamb With Cranberry Burrs

1/2 cup catsup
1/4 cup cranberry juice cocktail
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons steak sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 lbs. lamb shoulder, 1 1/2" cubes

Combine all ingredients, except lamb, in saucepan. Heat to boiling point, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Keep warm. String lamb cubes on skewers, allowing 3 to 4 cubes to each skewer. Place on broiler rack. Spoon part of sauce over cubes. Broil 3 inches from the heat 25 to 35 minutes. Turn and baste with sauce every five minutes. Place on platter and fill center of platter with Cranberry Burrs. Wild rice and mushrooms can be served with this dish.

Cranberry Burrs

1 lb. can Jellied Cranberry Sauce
1 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup milk
2 eggs, well beaten
Crushed cornflakes
Fat for frying
Chill the cranberry sauce thoroughly. Make a batter by beating together flour, salt, milk, and eggs. Remove mold of cranberry sauce from the can. Cut six slices and cut each slice in quarters. Roll each piece of cranberry sauce in flour. Dip in batter then roll in crushed cornflakes. Fry in deep fat heated to 350 degrees or in 2 inches of fat in large skillet (hot enough to brown a cube of bread in 40 seconds). Drain and serve hot. Makes 24 Cranberry Burrs.

There won't be a single "No, thanks" when you pass a platter of home-made, miniature Danish pastries to your coffee-drinking guests. Fact is, most everybody will take several at a time—they're that appetizing! Just be sure you have more-than-enough coffee on hand—you'll need it to go with these unusual and delicious snacks.

Tiny Danish Pastries Are The Perfect Coffee Snack

Danish pastry and good hot coffee—there's a pair that is popular with just about everybody, everywhere. When you make your own Danish pastries, you'll find that they are one of the most creative, most "fun" bits of home baking you've ever tried. For one thing, home-made pastries can be made two-bite size, dainty and attractive for serving to guests who come to your house for coffee.

Here is an excellent, easy recipe which will not only produce a delicious result, but will also give you plenty of chance to show your artistic ability! The recipe makes a great many tiny pastries, enough for a fairly sizeable party. Just be sure you have plenty of your best hot coffee on hand to serve with these luscious snacks.

Little Danish Pastries

1/4 cup sugar
4 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup scalded milk
1 pkg. active dry yeast
1 egg, well-beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour (about)
1 cup sweet (not salt) butter
Combine sugar, 4 tablespoons butter, salt and hot milk. Stir in 1/4 cup vinegar; 1/4 cup salad oil; 1/4 teaspoon salt; pepper; paprika; 3 cups chopped cooked turkey; 2 tbs. unflavored gelatin; 1/2 cup cold water; 2 1/2 cups hot clear broth; 2 hard cooked eggs, sliced; 1/2 cup cooked or canned peas; 6 stuffed olives, sliced; 1 teaspoon onion juice; 1/2 cup finely chopped celery.

Mix first 5 ingredients and pour over turkey. Let stand in refrigerator 1 to 2 hours, stirring occasionally. Sprinkle gelatin on cold water and soak a few minutes. Dissolve soaked gelatin in hot broth. Add salt and cool until slightly thickened.

Make a design of sliced eggs, peas, and olives on bottom of salad mold and cover with a thin layer of thickened broth. Chill until firm. Mix onion juice, celery, and drained turkey with rest of thickened broth. Carefully pour this mixture into the mold and chill until firm. Unmold to serve.

Turkey is well suited to summer eating, when easy-to-prepare, light-to-eat, highly nutritious, and tempting dishes are essential. It's also near the head of the list of preferred foods because it's a perfect multi-meal dish, and therefore a great work-saver. What could be more appealing than a handsomely stuffed golden brown bird for dinner of a fine summer evening. Particularly when you know the youngsters will enjoy a few additional equally good dinners or luncheons from the leftovers in succeeding days. Turkey sandwiches are a welcome treat at picnics or the beach.

Turkeys are especially reasonable now, the U. S. Department of Agriculture says, because about a million more will be coming to market this June than a year ago—about 40 percent more than last year. The heaviest supplies will be in the most popular sizes—the 7 to 12-pounders and the institutional over 18-pounders, just right for families small and large. The greater proportion of meat to bone in the heavier birds makes them more economical than the smaller sizes.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1 (INS)—I am impressed and I wager you, too, will be when I tell you that Stanley Donen has signed Ingrid Bergman and Cary Grant for "Kind Sir," to start in November in London.

This is the first picture to be made by the Stanley Donen Productions, and "Kind Sir," as most of you know is Norman Krasna's play which originally starred Mary Martin and Charles Boyer on Broadway.

Stanley further tells me that he'll both produce and direct. He directed "Funny Face," one of the most delightful pictures of any year, "Pajama Game" and others.

I say "hurray" for Al Zugsmith for giving Gail Russell the lead in his MGM picture "The Man Who Grew Younger"—and by this, he may be giving her the chance that could be the turning point in her whole life.

Many of Gail's friends believe that the basis of her many misfortunes, including the trial she is facing on a felony drunk driving charge, is because she is discouraged about her career. Producer Zugsmith is not just giving her a part in his picture. Gail has the leading feminine role.

I hope other producers follow his lead and give important assignments to Gail. Then it's completely up to her to justify their confidence.

"What's new?" I asked Joseph Fields, Broadway producer-writer, who is in our town with his popular wife, Marion.

He said, "You mean with the world or with me?"

"We'll start with you first," I replied, so Joe came up with this interesting information about himself: His next Broadway show is "The Flower Drum Song," based on a book by Chin Y. Lee.

Joe will write and produce the play, and he says that he wants Eddie Robinson for the top role. Eddie has the book and likes it. He was so great in "The Middle of the Night" on the stage.

Of all things to happen to a glamor girl on vacation, Kim Novak fell in a patch of poison ivy on Mario Bandini's estate near Napoli. "And now I've turned into a mass of hives all over, have a high fever and then chills, and look terrible," Kim writes in long hand from Italy.

She goes on, "My friend Norma Kassell, Mario and I drove out to visit Mario's sister at their beautiful country estate. Nearby some ruins, just discovered, which may date back B. C., are being excavated. So it was exciting to explore these newly-found ruins until, inside a high old tower, I was sure I saw something that was an ancient undiscovered relic.

"Trying to get to my 'prize discovery,' I fell in this patch of poison ivy, and suddenly I felt as if I was on fire all over."

Gil Hodges Sets N.L. Record, Hits 13th Grand Slammer

Dodger Beats Hornsby And Kiner Marks

Brooklyn Defeats
Cubs, 12-3, Copping
17 Out Of Last 23

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (P) — Gil Hodges' record-setting grand slam home run today propelled the surging Brooklyn Dodgers and left-handed Sandy Koufax to an easy 12-3 triumph over the hapless Chicago Cubs.

Hodges' grand slam blast, the 13th of his major league career, broke the previous National League record of 12 shared by Rogers Hornsby and Ralph Kiner.

The victory, Brooklyn's 13th in 18 games with the Cubs this year, showed the third place Dodgers to within 1½ games of the National League lead. It was the 17th win in the last 23 games for the Brooks, a 739 clip.

On the negative side, Brooklyn's Peeewe Reese was hit on the neck by a wild throw as he attempted to make second base on a sacrifice bunt. The club trainer said the 38-year-old veteran would only have a bit of stiffness from the mishap.

Altogether, the red-hot Dodgers slammed four Chicago pitchers, including loser Tom Poholsky, for 18 hits. Brooklyn also took advantage of the Cubs' leaky defense which committed six errors.

Hodges lofted a sacrifice fly that scored the first run of the game which with his 15th homer of the season gave him five RBIs. Catcher Roy Campanella, struggling with a .233 batting average, cracked three singles good for three RBIs.

Cub shortstop Ernie Banks' hit his 23rd home run with two men on base in the third.

Bell Recognizes Players' Union

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (P)—Pro football Commissioner Bert Bell, acting singlehandedly, today granted recognition to a National Football League players union.

Bell made his bombshell announcement before the House Antitrust subcommittee, which is surveying professional sports operations.

He said he decided to accept the NFL players association as a bargaining agency without consulting club owners.

The owners last winter had refused to recognize the association, formed during the 1956 season. They reacted to Bell's surprise decision mainly with approval, although some questioned the commissioner's authority to make independent agreements with any outside individual or organization.

Creighton Miller, the former Notre Dame back who is attorney for the association, said he was "most gratified" as long as Bell could act for the league.

The rotund commissioner had told the subcommittee he recognized the association "on behalf of the league."

Champ Has Problems

DENVER, Colo. (P) — Glen R. Jorgensen, a Denver hog rancher, figures he has the champion foot size in these parts. He wears a size 16 shoe.

After Jorgensen starred in basketball and football at Adams City High School in 1942 and 1943, the school enshrined his football shoes. The shoes challenge anyone to fill them.

Jorgensen weighs 265 pounds, stands 6 feet, 5 inches. He served in the Army during World War II, and the Army took good care of his feet. The quartermaster corps gave him six huge pairs of combat boots to lug through France, Austria and Germany.

The Army made him cart the barracks bag full of shoes throughout the war for fear supply depots overseas would be unable to meet his needs.

Bobby Bragan Told To Quit His Clowning

Giles Slaps $100 Fine On Buc Pilot

CINCINNATI, Aug. 1 (P)—Bobby Bragan, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was told bluntly today to quit clowning on the baseball field or face indefinite suspension.

Warren C. Giles, president of the National League, advised the Pirate leader just where he stood, and fined him $100 for sauntering onto the field last night in Milwaukee, sipping from a bottle of soda, after he had been thrown out of the game. Bobby offered each of the umpires a drink from his bottle.

But the brash young man, when reached in Chicago after Giles had his say, came right back with a crack that his clowning was "well worth the money." Then, in serious, vein, he added:

"I'm very cognizant of the danger of any repetition."

Giles declined to comment on Bragan's statement in Chicago.

Bragan, who came out of the minor leagues with a reputation for unusual managerial antics, was ordered out of last night's game by umpire Stan Landes for holding his nose to show how he felt about a decision. The soda episode followed.

Giles ordered Bragan to pay a $100 fine by game time Aug. 5, and then added this warning:

"Any future offense of this nature will subject you to indefinite suspension."

Porky Oliver Shoots 66, Leads In All-American

Bill Casper Holds 2nd Place With 67, Trio Tied With 68s

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (P) — Ed (Porky) Oliver whose four off-spring keep him a busy breadwinner on the tourney circuit, shoved his way ahead of the younger set today with a fabulous 66 and the first round lead in the $25,000 All American Golf tournament at Tam O'Shanter.

The 40-year old pro, now registering out of Canton, Mass., never missed a green. He shot a pair of 33s against Tam's par 36-36—72.

Bill Casper Jr., 26, of Bonita, Calif., upheld the hopes of the younger players carding a 34-33—67 among late finishers in a race with darkness. He dropped long putts to finish his round with a pair of birdie 3s.

Casper is having his greatest year on the tournament circuit and is fourth on the official PGA money-winning list with $16,949.

Oliver without a tournament victory in 10 out of 14 starts this season for earnings of $3,789, was followed closely by 45-year-old Sam Snead and two comparative newcomers.

Former Lacrosse Player Is Killed

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 1 (P)—Lt. (JG) Harry C. Burgan Jr., former Johns Hopkins lacrosse player, was killed yesterday when his Navy plane crashed near Warner Springs, Calif.

Burgan, 25, was on a routine training flight from Miramar Naval Air Station, San Diego, when the plane went down, the Navy said. His body was found in the wreckage of the ship, a propeller-driven AD6 Skyraider.

He was a midfielder on the Hopkins varsity lacrosse team in 1952 and 1953.

Scallion Named Cage Mentor At So. Hagerstown

Nick Scallion, former Washington College basketball ace, who has coached at Crisfield (Md.) High School for the past three years, yesterday was named head cage mentor at South Hagerstown High School.

Scallion succeeds Paul Flick, who transferred to Martinsburg High School to become assistant football, basketball and track coach.

A former resident of Hazelton, Pa., Scallion was an all-time basketball great at Washington College, Chestertown, Md., and was graduated from the Eastern Shore school in 1952.

Last season (1956-57) his Crisfield quint turned in an 18-0 record and won the Maryland Class "C" basketball title at College Park. His three teams at Crisfield won 52 games and lost 11.

Williamsport Little Leaguers Edge Frostburg, 6-5

Kreps' 2-Run Homer Wins Close Battle

Caps 4-Run Rally In 6th; Frederick Is Other Finalist

Staging a four-run rally in the sixth and final inning, Williamsport came from behind to defeat Frostburg's All-Stars yesterday as the score of 6-5 at Williamsport, Md., and advanced to the Little League district finals.

Frederick's Nationals became the other district finalist as a result of their 11-0 victory over Thurmont yesterday at Thurmont.

Williamsport and Frederick are the last of 18 teams that started play for district honors. They will clash Saturday at 6 p.m. in Williamsport.

The Washington countians drew first blood in their game with Frostburg by scoring two runs in the first frame. The Mountain City nine, however, knotted the count at 2-2 in the second, made it 4-2 on back-to-back homers by Jimmy Diehl and Ralph Spriggs in the fifth and added another tally in the sixth to lead 5-2 when the home team came to bat in the final frame.

Kreps' Homer Wins

Bill McKinley launched the rally by working Wayne Harper for a base on balls. Luther Grimes hit to shortstop Pollack and when the latter's throw was dropped on the force play at second base all hands were safe. "Skip" Miller rapped a two-bagger, sending home both runners and putting Williamsport on the short end of a 5-4 score. The winning wallop was registered by Gary Kreps, Williamsport right fielder, who slammed a 225-foot home run over the fence in right-center, scoring Miller ahead of him.

The victory was the third in a row for the Conococheague League aggregation while the loss was the first in the tourney in three outings for Frostburg.

Billy Martin went the route for Williamsport, gave up eight hits and struck out eight and walked six. Harper went all the way for Frostburg, yielded six blows, fanned three and issued the same number of free passes. Jimmy Wilson, Jimmy Diehl and "Chuck" Gray shared six of the losers' eight hits.

Hits Grand Slammer

Mike Bruchey tossed a five-hitter as the Frederick Nationals eliminated Thurmont, a Frederick county opponent. It was Frederick's fourth consecutive victory in the elimination tourney. Among the winning team's 12 blows was a grand slam homer by Darrell Feaga during a six-run explosion in the third inning.

Redlegs Rally, Trip Phils, 4-3

Score Three In 8th, Regain 4th Place

CINCINNATI, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs, stopped with only four hits through the first seven innings, rallied for three runs in the eighth inning tonight for a 4-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phils. The triumph enabled the Reds to regain fourth place in the National League.

Stan Lopata and Rip Repulski hit home runs for the Phils and Lopata's was his third in as many games here.

The Reds' sudden rally came after Curt Simmons had held them to one run and four hits over the first seven innings.

Johnny Temple opened with a single, stole second and scored on Gus Bell's double. Bell moved to third as Frank Robinson was safe on a sacrifice and fielder's choice and he scored as Wally Post lined a single off the left-field wall.

That brought Warren Hacker in to relieve Simmons. Don Hoak forced Robinson and Seth Morehead replaced Hacker as lefthanded hitting Smokey Burgess went in as a pinch hitter. Burgess beat out a tap in front of the plate and Post scored on Ed Bailey's sacrifice fly.

Brother Of Bobby Is Mild-Mannered; Wins 25 Out Of 31

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Aug. 1 (AP)—There's another fellow named Bragan making his mark this season as a baseball manager—without attendant fireworks on the diamond.

He's 28-year-old Jimmy Bragan, a personable, mild-mannered fellow whose Bluefield Dodgers are ripping up the all-rookie Class D Appalachian League. With 31 games played, the little Dodgers have won 25, including 16 of their last 17.

Jimmy's deportment is just about impeccable, in sharp contrast to his older brother Bobby, who manages the Pittsburgh Pirates. Jimmy hasn't been thumbed from a game yet this season. His lone flareup with the umpires came last week during a game at Pulaski, Va.

Older brother Bobby, on the other hand, is fresh from another bout with the men in blue last night at Milwaukee. Bobby was fined $100 by National League President Warren Giles today for his antics during Pittsburgh's game with the Braves.

No such incidents on Jimmy's managerial record. Jimmy is getting quite a kick out of his first season as a field general. He says the enthusiasm and spirit of the rookies is contagious.

"There is nothing a rookie won't attempt and very often they pull off a play that appears impossible," says Jimmy, who made the South Atlantic League All-Star team last season as a second baseman.

St. Louis Cops National Lead

Sweeps 3-Game Set With Giants, 8-0

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1 (AP)—Stan Musial hammered in four runs tonight with four hits, including two homers, and Sam Jones pitched an 8-0 victory as the St. Louis Cardinals took over the National League lead by completing a three-game series sweep over the New York Giants.

Musial, snapping a slump by getting as many hits in this game as in the previous seven, took over the major league lead in runs batted in with 83.

The Redbirds moved into first place, two percentage points ahead of idle Milwaukee.

Jones, who had missed a pitching turn with an inflamed elbow, breezed to his ninth victory in 13 decisions.

It was the sixth straight triumph for St. Louis, which has won nine out of the last 10 and 11 of 13.

The big righthander, walking only one while fanning four, scattered four hits until the ninth when the Giants put together two blows, including the second single each for Willie Mays and Ray Jablonski.

Musial's four-for-four including his 23rd and 24th homers, pinned an eleventh defeat on southpaw Johnny Antonelli, a 10-game winner.

Musial passed Ty Cobb and took third place behind Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig in career extra base hits with 1140.

Wally Moon, hitting safely in his 18th straight game, and Hal Smith had three hits each in the 16-hit assault on four pitchers.

Doby's 4-Run Clout Wasted, Senators Win

Stobbs Is Victor Over Chisox, 5-4; Sievers Hits 28th

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Larry Doby belted the first bases-loaded home run in four years today but it was wasted as the Senators surged back from a 4-0 deficit to beat the Chicago White Sox 5-4 with the aid of Roy Sievers' 28th homer.

The defeat dropped the second place White Sox four games behind the New York Yankees.

Doby accounted for one of Chicago's runs in the fourth inning after Nellie Fox was hit by a pitched ball. Earl Torgeson singled and Minnie Minoso walked. Doby then lofted a Chuck Stobbs pitch into the left-centerfield bleachers.

The Senators nicked Jack Harshman for a run in the fourth inning when Ed Fitzgerald singled, Jim Lemon doubled and Sievers hit a sacrifice fly. They added another run in the fifth when Rocky Bridges walked and Ed Yost tripled.

Washington chased Harshman during a three-run uprising in the sixth. Lemon walked and Sievers cracked his fourth homer in four games and his 11th of the year against Chicago into the center-field seats.

Stobbs, who required aid from Truman Clevenger in the ninth, posted his fifth win as Fischer was dealt a fifth loss. Stobbs and Clevenger held Chicago to five hits as Washington snapped a four-game losing streak.

Liquor Dealer Fined On Fair Trade Charge

ANNAPOLIS, Aug. 1 (P) — Hilgard Donner, an Annapolis liquor dealer, was fined $3,000 today for violation of the Fair Trade Act. An equity suit brought against Donner by Seagrams Distilleries charged him with violating an injunction against selling certain brands of whisky below fair trade prices.

Testimony was taken in the case some time ago. A further hearing was held today after which Circuit Court Judge James Magill imposed the sentence.

Over a century, a billion cubic yards of earth, equalling 10 Suez canals, have been moved to protect and drain the Netherlands.

A Great Step Backward

"Oh, we have a wonderful studio audience tonight," shouted Jan Murray, the indefatigable master of ceremonies on "Dollar A Second," the other night and possibly on every program. It's been a long, long time since I heard anyone say, "Oh, we have a wonderful studio audience tonight" and it's altogether possible that Mr. Murray was the last one I heard say it.

As a matter of fact, "Dollar A Second" is the kind of show that has not been seen much on television recently or, if it has been seen, has been relegated to the afternoon hours when the housewives will put up with anything. It is an audience participation show full of monstrously involved gimmicks in which various contestants—using that word in the loosest possible sense—race about the stage getting up in the face while engaged in preposterous parlor games.

Meanwhile, the studio audience roars. That is why it is important to have a good studio audience. A bad studio audience just titters. A perfectly awful studio audience, I imagine, would just get up quietly and tip toe out, muttering: "How on earth did we get mixed up in this?" So far as is known, there's never been a perfectly awful studio audience which did that but I never stop hoping.

Jan Murray is what is known as a jovial master of ceremonies and there are grounds for suspicion that he is the most jovial master of ceremonies in the business, exceeding even Art Linkletter in that regard. In fact, if he got any more jovial, it would very likely blow out your viewing tube entirely. Properly harnessed, Murray's joviality would light New Haven for three days or run Boulder Dam for a week. That's a lot of joviality, perhaps a little too much for some of us ordinary mortals.

The title of the show refers to the fact that contestants, if that's what they are, get a dollar for every second they manage to stay on stage. They are allowed to stay there until some "outside event" transpires, and, if they stay too long, they lose all their money.

That doesn't, I gather, happen very often but it did the other night. A construction worker was on stage, the dollars piling up, while a locksmith offstage was making keys. When the locksmith had made enough keys, time was called and the construction worker lost $626 for tarrying too long. If none of this makes a great deal of sense to you, perhaps I could clarify everything by explaining that, while the locksmith was making the keys, the construction worker was blowing horns, ringing bells and pushing buttons which

Stock Market's Turnover Dwindles As Prices Wilt

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—Turnover on the stock market dwindled today to the lowest level in four months as prices wilted late in the session after early irregularity. News that business profits in 1957 have been running ahead of last year by 4.5 per cent had little effect on the list as a whole, particularly since the boost was due largely to a profitable six months in the oil industry. Oils fared a bit better than the rest of list early in the session but turned spotty later on.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped 80 cents to $184.30 with the industrials down $1.20, the rails down 70 cents and the utilities down 20 cents.

The 1,112 issues traded made it the narrowest market since April 1.

There were 30 new lows for the year and 9 new highs.

Of the 15 most active stocks, nine rose, five fell and one was unchanged. Raytheon, still riding on news of its missile production, was the most active stock for the second straight day. It rose 1/4 at 22 1/2, on 29,600 shares. Second was Cities Service, up 1 1/4 at 69 1/2 on 29,500 shares. Third was Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton, up 1/2 at 14 1/2 on 25,400 shares.

Next came Bethlehem Steel, off 1/4 at 47 1/2, followed by General Motors, up 1/4 at 45 1/2.

Shakedown Run Under Way At Sewage Plant

Final Acceptance Is Slated Soon

The shakedown run of the city's sewage treatment plant is in progress and final acceptance is expected within a week or 10 days.

Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer for the city on the construction of the $2,000,000 project, said yesterday that outside of a few minor adjustments the plant is in excellent condition.

He added that he wants the plant operated for that long before recommending final acceptance, since it would be unwise to accept the plant before all adjustments are made.

Mr. Regester and his staff inspected the plant yesterday, along with J. E. Moyer, partner of Moyer Brothers, Altoona, which built the plant for the city under a $1,631,000 contract, and William H. Buchholtz, commissioner of streets and public property.

Sewage began flowing into the primary treatment plant Wednesday at 7 a. m. and yesterday was being pumped at the rate of six million gallons a day.

Mr. Buchholtz said he has been spending most of his time at the plant for the past week as equipment was being readied for the shakedown run.

He said he wanted to be sure that all members of the operating staff are familiar with their jobs.

The plant is being operated by Former Mayor Thomas S. Post, who at 72 is taking on the obligation of putting into service the plant he helped plan when he was the city's chief executive.

Is Cut In

Mr. Buchholtz said all members of the staff of the plant will have to get typhoid shots and that he has arranged for the Health Department to begin next Wednesday.

He said he was pleased with the manner in which the operating staff is taking over its duties.

The plant, Commissioner Buchholtz said, works like this: Sewage from city sewer lines drops into two big suction wells located at the rear of the main pumping station.

Each well is equipped with two powerful pumps capable of moving 8,000,000 gallons or raw sewage a day.

The electrically powered pumps located at the bottom of the pumping station, force raw sewage directly across from the station to the plant's detritor and comminutor station.

The detritor removes sand and grit from the sewage and ejects it periodically into a spoils area provided on the 10-acre site.

Chewed To Pulp

The combination unit is equipped with two rakes which collect undesirable solids and drops them down into the comminutor unit.

This consists of two huge grinders which operate on the principle of garbage disposal units in kitchen sinks.

After the solids have been chewed to a pulp, they flow into one of two clarifier tanks.

These primary, or clarifier tanks, separate solids from liquid. The sludge is collected by big paddles and pushed to the center of the tank.

Sludge which has collected is pumped periodically into the digestion tank while liquids flow to the chlorinator.

The liquids remain in the chlorine tank for about 20 minutes and then are dumped into the Potomac River after the chlorine, Mr. Buchholtz said, has made them about 98 per cent pure.

Makes Own Gas

The sludge which has been pumped to the digestion tank, he said, stays there until bacterial action is complete.

In the digestion tank, bacteria will digest the sludge and when the action is complete—from four to six months from now, digested sludge can be let into the greenhouses—the sludge drying beds.

Beside the digestion tank, he said, is a gas tank, which collects and stores gas thrown off during the bacterial action. The gas will be used to heat the plant.

When sludge has dried, it will be collected and sold to provide revenue for the city. The price of the soil conditioner has not been set, he said.

Motors Hum At Treatment Plant

Powerful motors located inside the main pumping station and administration building, top photo, began to hum Wednesday morning as the City of Cumberland set its $2,000,000 sewage treatment plant into operation. Treatment actually begins in the plant's detritor chamber and comminutor, below, which was being inspected by officials of the city and the contractor yesterday when the picture was taken. The detritor unit contains equipment which removes sand and grit and the comminutor chews up what is left before routing it to other units of the primary treatment plant.

Auxiliary Police Rescue Unit Quick In Emergency

Despite failure of motorists to heed a siren and allow right-of-way, rescue equipment of the Cumberland Auxiliary Police was driven from the Canada Hose House on North Mechanic Street to the Wiley Ford Bridge in less than five minutes the other night in a test run sanctioned by police.

Damage Suits Filed After Car Accidents

The plaintiffs in two separate declarations filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court are seeking $1,000 each for damages resulting from auto collisions in January.

William C. Walsh and William Walsh are counsel for the plaintiffs in both damage suits. Ellis Augustus Rose, RD 4, city, for his use and use of benefit of the Aetna Casualty and Surety Company is suing Douglas D. Deffenbaugh of Oldtown.

According to the declaration the defendant was driving a sedan east on Route 51 on January 19 in the direction of Cumberland and collided with the plaintiff's car, which had crossed Route 51 and was headed south on the City Dump Road.

In the other declaration, Sandor Popovitz for his use and the use of Allstate Insurance Company, Brooklyn, N. Y., is suing Lawrence Turner and Frank E. Brotemarkle, 208 Lang Avenue.

The declaration said that on January 28 Mr. Brotemarkle, who was driving a sedan, with the consent of Mr. Turner of U. S. Route 40 near Belle Grove, rammed into the rear of the Popovitz car causing considerable property damage. Both of the cars were traveling west.

14 To Seek Queen Title

Girls from 14 city playgrounds will compete tonight at 8 o'clock at City Hall for the title of 1957 Playground Queen.

Contestants will be Florence Buzzard, Centre Streets; Dorothy Hardman, Columbia Street; Eileen Naughton, East Side; Sandra Topper, Geophart; Jacqueline Reuschel, Johnson Heights; Janet Gray, LaMont Street.

Melva Richards, Mapleside; Rosalie Sharp, Mt. Royal; Doris Kasecamp, North End; Marcella Adams, Penn Avenue; Rita Mann, Pine Avenue; Linda Lewis, Ridgedale; Shirley Auvil, Thomas Post, and Carol Long, West Side.

Virginia Avenue Playground is an elementary ground and will not compete in the Queen contest, which is for girls 14-18. Its playground queen, however, will ride in the playground parade.

Mr. Armbruster said the force organized without a cent. A local benefactor bought the jeep for the organization, which reimbursed him for the cost.

Filter Plant Contract Is Nearly Done

The present phase of the modernization of the Lake Gordon filtration plant will be completed within a few weeks, according to Water Commissioner William J. Edwards.

He said Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer for the project, reported yesterday that good progress is being made on the rehabilitation of the old settling basin of the plant.

Under the new system, this concrete basin will be used as part of the clearwell to store filtered water.

Water will be drawn from the basin, he said, to wash the filters.

The contact basins, Regester reported, need only a few minor adjustments before they are ready for acceptance.

The big combination chemical mixing and flocculation basins have been in operation for several weeks.

The work is being done by the Hazelwood Construction Company.

Boys Beat Heat, Then 'Beat It'

Boys will be boys.

A group of local youngsters yesterday decided to do something about the intense heat, shed their clothes and climbed into Wills Creek "in the raw."

A resident along North Mechanic Street noticed the boys frolicking in the cooling water without a stitch on, and notified police, who went to the scene.

It wasn't long before police got another call that the youngsters were again splashing about the creek. But this time when the police arrived, the boys "beat it."

Local Woman Nominated For Stewardship Award

Miss Catherine Avers of 123 Grand Avenue, a member of St. John's Lutheran Church, has been nominated by the pastor and church council for the International Stewardship of Life Awards of the United Lutheran Church in America.

Two awards annually are presented by the Lutheran Laymen's Movement for Stewardship, a United Lutheran Church agency dedicated to the promotion of "living the Christian faith in daily life." This will be the sixth annual presentation.

The sponsor of the awards is Everett G. Mitchell, president of the Lutheran Laymen's Movement, and director of NBC's National Farm and Home Hour. He established the annual awards in 1952 to encourage young people to practice the Christian religion at home, church, and school, and in work and community life.

Registration Deadline Is On Monday

Is your name on the eligible voters list of the city registration books?

If not, you have until 5 p. m. Monday, August 5, in which to go to City Hall and have your name placed on the books in order to cast your ballot, FOR or AGAINST, the proposal to raise the city tax limitation to $1.50.

The books will be closed eight days prior to the referendum on Tuesday, August 13. Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, said yesterday the polls will be open from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m.

In connection with the registration, Ullery said any citizen of Cumberland whose name is not on the books by August 5 will not be able to vote.

Truck, Brush Fire Are Checked Here

City firemen answered two calls yesterday afternoon.

A short circuit in the battery cable of a pickup truck of the C&P Telephone Company caused slight damage to the insulation. The fire occurred near the intersection of Virginia Avenue and Fifth Street about 12:31 p. m. South End firemen answered the call.

In the other fire, a small area of brush was scorched in Constitution Park. East Side firemen, who received the call at 3:30 p. m., said the fire may have been set by children.

Guest Church Soloist

Miss Ramona Lee Elbin, 14, of Houston, Tex., will be guest soloist Sunday at the 11 a. m. service at Grace Methodist Church, Virginia Avenue.

National Guard Enlistments Are 'Frozen'

Action Is Ordered On Temporary Basis

The strength of the Maryland National Guard, as well as the Guard in other states, was "frozen" by special order by the Defense Department about six weeks ago because of the uncertainty of federal appropriations. However, action of the United States Congress late yesterday in passing the Armed Forces budget will now assure "pay call" for all service men and reservists.

Col. Randolph Millholland, commander of the 113th Regiment, Maryland National Guard, said last night a directive had been received about five or six weeks ago, freezing enlistments at their level as of that date.

"This does not mean," he explained, "that we cannot enlist new men, because we can enlist a man for each man discharged or retired." In other words, the guard strength, which has been kept high, would not be allowed to diminish. But because of the uncertainty of appropriations, it was held at the "frozen" level.

Col. Millholland said orders were also received to suspend or cancel four drills during the second quarter of the fiscal year which began July 1. These drills will be made up, however, with multiple sessions or extra sessions during the fourth quarter of the fiscal year, he added.

"Thus," he said, "the Guardsmen will not actually lose any training time, and will not lose any drill pay."

Throughout the entire Maryland regiment, Col. Millholland said enlistments and re-enlistments have remained at a satisfactory level. In most companies, where no current vacancies exist, unit commanders are compiling waiting lists of applicants.

Fire Prevention Being Urged By Wood Industries

State Is In Midst Of Worst Drought

In the midst of one of Maryland's worst summer droughts in history, a spokesman for the state's wood-using industries has issued an appeal for extreme caution with fire near forest lands.

L. D. Peterson of Luke, chairman of the Maryland Forest Industries Committee, said the prolonged dry weather has created conditions in which the smallest spark can quickly turn a peaceful wooded area into a roaring inferno.

"More than beauty is lost when forests burn," he pointed out. "There are about 600 wood-using industrial establishments in the state with an annual payroll of $81 million. Destruction of timber crops by forest fires poses a direct threat to these industries, which must have a continuing harvest of wood."

Such an industry is located at Luke where the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company maintains a sprawling plant. In addition, the industry spokesman said, forest fires rob farmers and other woodland owners of timber sale profits, destroy taxable property and lessen the value of woodlands in providing game cover, watershed protection and soil erosion control.

These reasons, he declared, make it obvious that "there is a price tag on every woods fire, and regardless of where you live or what you do, part of that price comes out of your pocket."

On the hopeful side, Mr. Peterson pointed out, nine out of 10 forest fires are caused by human carelessness, and thus can be prevented. All that is needed to keep Maryland green during the current emergency, he said, is for everyone to follow these rules:

Thoroughly crush out cigarette or pipe ash; use your ash tray while driving; drown or bury camp fires; and do not burn debris without a permit.

Marine Drill Hours Have Been Changed

Members of the Sixth Special Infantry Company, USMC, are meeting at a new time on Thursdays for weekly drill, according to Major Patsy Algeri, commanding officer.

The new time will be from 7:30 p. m. until 10 p. m. The reason for the change in time is because a large number of the men had difficulty in getting to drill on time, due to their working hours. Additional information on enlistment in the local reserve unit may be obtained by calling PA 2-1404. Formerly they met from 7 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. Thursday.

Senate Unit Asked To Back Parkway Bill

Chamber Says Road Is Vital To Area

The adoption of Senate Bill 77 authorizing the construction of the scenic C & O Parkway in Western Maryland was urged last night in a statement adopted by the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

The statement which points out that Senator J. Glenn Beall's proposal offers the government an opportunity to get some returns from the money it has spent on the historic water route is being sent to Senator James E. Murray, chairman of the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs.

Senator Murray recently invited the chamber to submit a statement giving its views on the proposal.

The Chamber pointed out the canal ceased to be a waterway for trade and commerce nearly 35 years ago and has become, for the most part, a useless, stagnant stream, virtually inaccessible.

Is Inaccessible

Vast stretches of the canal, the Chamber said, are choked with underbrush and in many places it is littered with refuse and infested with mosquitoes, an "eyesore, a menace to health, unsafe and unsightly."

It said the present canal is for the most part "forsaken, forgotten and will remain so until it is cleaned up and made accessible to all who wish to visit it," adding: "Senate Bill 77 will provide the way. The national park proposed by the bill will develop the C&O Canal for recreation, wilderness conservation and wildlife propagation. The proposed roadway between Maryland Route 51 near Paw Paw, W. Va., and Route 453 at Woodmont, Maryland, will pass through some of the most scenic sections of Western Maryland and will provide magnificent vistas of the Potomac Valley. It will also provide access and will attract tourists to some of the more attractive stretches of the canal preserve."

Something new in the way of religious services has been introduced in Ridgeley by Rev. Harold L. May, pastor of Calvary Methodist Church there.

Rev. May said the new program is a "drive-in" vesper hour where the members attend services in their cars in a similar manner to the drive-in entertainment programs.

He said he came across the idea while traveling through the South, where the outdoor evening services are quite popular, and decided to introduce the program here. Two services have been held this summer and have been well attended. Rev. May stated.

The services are held from the front steps of Ridgeley High School and are broadcast over loudspeakers from a platform. The services feature recorded music, choir singing, Scripture reading and a sermon.

All the churches in Ridgeley are sponsoring the evening devotions and a number of guest ministers from area churches will speak this month and through the middle of September. A number of Cumberland churches who do not hold a regular evening service on Sunday are also taking part in the "drive-in" worship.

The Ridgeley Police Department has been assisting in handling and directing traffic and parking on the school lot just off Route 28.

Link Is Needed

"The proposed roadway is of vital importance to the people of Western Maryland. Over the years it has been a matter of vital necessity that an additional link be provided to Route 40 from Cumberland to Hancock. This would provide an alternative to the mountainous and hazardous portions of Route 40, eliminating congestion and delays caused by heavy traffic.

"The future of the Cumberland area, and in fact Western Maryland, depends on an adequate transportation system. Without good roads in and out of this area, the area cannot grow or prosper.

"The Chamber, therefore, favors the enactment of Senate Bill 77, authorizing the C & O Canal Parkway. Section two of the bill provides for the establishment of a connecting link from Route 51, near Paw Paw, to Route 453 at Woodmont. This proposed parkway, together with the proposed widening and repaving by the Maryland State Roads Commission of Route 51 from Cumberland to Paw Paw, will provide the additional link to U. S. 40, and to the east, which we have sorely needed for so long a time. Together, these roadways will assure the future growth and expansion of this highly industrial section and would, at the same time, provide tourists better access to the scenic attractions of the canal preserve."

The Cumberland Chamber said it considers these important steps in expanding the resources and preserving the historical

Man Jailed On Motor Charges

Eugene Thomas Bush, 34, of Frostburg, yesterday was committed to Allegany County Jail for 30 days in default of fines after a three-car accident Monday on Baltimore Pike.

At a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court before Magistrate Donald W. Mason, Bush was fined $25 each on charges of failure to drive to the right of the center line and failure to stop after an accident which involved property damage.

Magistrate Mason sentenced Bush to 30 days on the latter charge but suspended the jail term. Mason also recommended that Bush's license be suspended and Bush turned it over to Trooper Robert Wolford to mail to the Department of Motor Vehicles.

The accident occurred when Bush crashed into a car while attempting to pass it on a curve. Bush's car then ricocheted into another car and continued on towards Cumberland.

He was picked up later by police and was taken to Memorial Hospital where he was treated for head and arm injuries.
